The Doctoral Journey as an Emotional, Embodied, Political Experience 2021-12-28

the doctoral journey as an emotional embodied political experience is the first text of its kind to capture stories of involvement in doctoral journeys from students supervisors and examiners drawing from experiences across a variety of disciplines in the social sciences medical sciences education and the humanities these stories share a keenness to demonstrate the ways in which this journey is emotional rather than detached embodied rather than separated and political rather than having no relationship to politics the journey metaphor is often adopted to describe and explore the phd process however this journey is usually only seen from the perspective of the doctoral candidate this implies that it is only the student that learns develops and reflects this is clearly not always maybe never the case the suggestion that the candidate learns whilst the supervisors teach harks back to traditional masculinist educational approaches and neglects the reciprocal knowledge sharing process between student and supervisor similarly the prescription that relationships between all concerned remain professional and removed rather than in any way intimate suggest an unrealistic acceptance of an scientific detached objective agenda rather than an emotional embodied political and holistic approach to research the contributions to this book extend the journey metaphor to additionally consider the experiences of supervisors and examiners including the joint collaborative journey of the team the candidate their supervisors and their examiners this provides a challenge to traditional understandings of the doctoral process and offers implications for future reflection and practice this book is therefore an invaluable resource for doctoral students supervisors examiners and readers interested in pedagogy and educational practice

Beyond Meaning: A Journey Across Language, Perception and Experience 2020-06-17

natural languages idioms such as english and cantonese zulu and amharic basque and nicaraguan sign language allow their speakers to convey meaning and transmit meaning to one another but what is meaning exactly what is this thing that words convey and speakers communicate few questions are as elusive as this yet few features are as essential to who we are and what we do as human beings as the capacity to convey meaning through language in this book gaetano fiorin and denis delfitto disclose a notion of linguistic meaning that is structured around three distinct yet interconnected dimensions a linguistic dimension relating meaning to the linguistic forms that convey it a material dimension relating meaning to the material and social conditions of its environment and a psychological dimension relating meaning to the cognitive lives of its users by paying special attention to the puzzle surrounding first person reference the way speakers exploit language to refer to themselves and by capitalizing on a number of recent findings in the cognitive sciences fiorin and delfitto develop the original hypothesis that meaningful language shares the same underlying logical and metaphysical structure of sense perception effectively acting as a system of classification and discrimination at the interface between cognitive agents and their ecologies
