spanning more than three decades and organized around the biographies of reverends charles a hill and albert b cleage jr faith in the city is a major new exploration of how the worlds of politics and faith merged for many of detroit s african americans a convergence that provided the community with a powerful new voice and identity while other religions have mixed politics and creed faith in the city shows how this fusion was and continues to be particularly vital to african american clergy and the black freedom struggle activists in cities such as detroit sustained a record of progressive politics over the course of three decades angela dillard reveals this generational link and describes what the activism of the 1960s owed to that of the 1930s the labor movement for example provided detroit s black activists both inside and outside the unions with organizational power and experience virtually unmatched by any other african american urban community publisher description
