Learning to Live Together 2004 this study represents an attempt to interpret the aim of learning to live together as a synthesis of many related goals such as education for peace human rights citizenship and health preserving behaviours it focuses specifically on the skills values attitudes and concepts needed for learning to live together rather than on knowledge objectives on the basis of a review of the literature and an examination of a number of cases from post conflict and transition settings this study proposes what appears to work in terms of helping students learn to become politely assertive rather than violent to understand conflict and its prevention to become mediators to respect human rights to become active and responsible members of their communities as local national and global citizens to have balanced relationships with others and neither to coerce others nor be coerced especially into risky health behaviours while the focus is mainly on schools the approach advocated is also applicable to non formal education for youth and adults
