outlines a plan for the design and implementation of staff in service training programs for human service agencies and facilities. Crimando and Riggall have made every effort to guarantee the usefulness of this text to practitioners, instructors, and students. This is a working book designed to assist trainers as they acquire the knowledge and skills needed to provide thorough, systematic in-service training that will enhance human service endeavors. The authors have organized the nineteen chapters into four parts that treat significant steps in the training program design process. These include analyzing problems that require training solutions, developing a proposal, writing a plan of action for training, and evaluating a program. Each of the chapters combines text, examples, exercises, and supplementary readings to foster a full appreciation of the process involved. Even those topics frequently overlooked or disregarded are included: budgeting, program time and financial resources, obtaining administrative commitment, and transferring and maintaining skills in the work setting. Book, CD, ROM, training is an investment for the future, the only foundation on which success can be built. Training delivers excellence in product and performance. Elevating a good restaurant into a great one, training will keep the skills of its employees and management sharp. But in no other
