non particulate quantum states of the electromagnetic field

Dec 25 2023

a quantum field has been coupled to a space time with accelerating expansion dynamical modes are destabilised successively at shorter material wavelengths as they metamorphose from oscillators to repellers due to degeneracy of energy levels the number of unstable modes increases at an accelerating rate sufficient to account for a significant proportion of cosmic energy for the subsystem spatiotemporal energy density distribution of time reversed

Nov 24 2023

time reversed measurements are back propagated in a simulated domain and converge to the unknown source location the focusing time i e the simulation instant at which the fields converge to the source location and the source location can be identified using field maxima entropy time kurtosis and space kurtosis effects of gravitational waves on electromagnetic fields

Sep 22 2023

the presence of a gravitational field can be addressed in terms of an effective electromagnetic medium and within this framework we show that the coupling of pre existing electromagnetic fields with the gravitational field of the wave gives rise to new effective currents to assess the impact of these effects we solve maxwell s equations for
