Scholarship and Loan Program 1958 james toner argues that the cardinal virtues are and must be the core values of the military by embracing these values the profession of arms serves as a moral compass in an increasingly confusing age toner examines the four cardinal virtues wisdom courage temperance and justice and places each in the context of a compelling case study from recent u s military history the book connects ethics and moral theology with the armed services demonstrating that the task of preserving virtue both personal and professional is a noble if imperfectible task book jacket title summary field provided by blackwell north america inc all rights reserved

Hearings 1957 in tip of the spear alfred peredo flores argues that the us occupation of the island of guåhan guam one of the most heavily militarized islands in the western pacific ocean was enabled by a process of settler militarism during world war ii and the cold war guåhan was a launching site for both covert and open us military operations in the region a strategically significant role that turned guåhan into a crucible of us overseas empire in 1962 the us navy lost the authority to regulate all travel to and from the island and a tourist economy eventually emerged that changed the relationship between the indigenous chamoru population and the us military further complicating the process of settler colonialism on the island the us military occupation of guåhan was based on a co constitutive process that included chamoru land dispossession discursive justifications for the remaking of the island the racialization of civilian military labor and the military s policing of interracial intimacies within a narrative that emphasizes chamoru resilience resistance and survival flores uses a working class labor analysis to examine how the militarization of guåhan was enacted by a minority settler population to contribute to the us government s hegemonic presence in oceania

The Education Gazette 1942 in elusive equality jeffrey l littlejohn and charles h ford place norfolk virginia at the center of the south s school desegregation debates tracing the crucial role that norfolk s african americans played in efforts to equalize and integrate the city s schools the authors relate how local activists participated in the historic teacher pay parity cases of the 1930s and 1940s how they fought against the school closures and massive resistance of the 1950s and how they challenged continuing patterns of discrimination by insisting on crosstown busing in the 1970s and 1980s despite the advances made by local activists however littlejohn and ford argue that the vaunted urban advantage supposedly now enjoyed by norfolk s public schools is not easy to reconcile with the city s continuing gaps and disparities in relation to race and class in analyzing the history of struggles over school integration in norfolk the authors scrutinize the stories told by participants including premature declarations of victory that laud particular achievements while ignoring the larger context in which they take place their research confirms that norfolk was a harbinger of national trends in educational policy and civil rights drawing on recently released archival materials oral interviews and the rich newspaper coverage in the journal and guide virginian pilot and ledger dispatch littlejohn and ford present a comprehensive multidimensional and unsentimental analysis of the century long effort to gain educational equality a historical study with contemporary implications their book offers a balanced view based on a thorough sober look at where norfolk s school district has been and where it is going
