in its 25 years the international development charity and youth empowerment movement impacted lives the world over innovation was at its core while most charities focus on making the world a better place for our children we charity focused on making better children for our world founded by the ubiquitous kielburger brothers we charity operated more like a silicon valley start up than a traditional ngo from creating stadium filling events with a list celebrity ambassadors to building schools infrastructure a hospital and even a university at lightning speed the organization was always full throttle its for profit partner me to we filled shelves with socially conscious products that allowed consumers to track the impact of their spending invited young people and families to visit and work in communities we charity supported and channelled proceeds back into the charity to make it self sustaining unique and disruptive we generated energy engagement and accolades but it also bred misunderstanding and in some quarters resentment with a long history of propelling youth to act in support of myriad causes making doing good doable the slogan went we charity was the ideal candidate to administer the canada student services grant cssg program the program if it had happened involved matching students within non profits in a summer in which covid had stolen most job opportunities and then we charity in canada was gone it didn t crumble it crashed unwittingly caught in the crosshairs of a partisan fight that reflects the increasing americanization of canadian politics we charity was forced to shutter its doors in canada once a media darling with politicians of all stripes clamouring to appear at its events the charity was suddenly a pariah accused falsely of a litany of wrongdoings political cronyism governance failures heavy handed decision making by executives lining the pockets of the founders manipulating children mistreating donors racism and international corruption many were shocked detractors were delighted led by fringe commentators the media quickly piled on allies who spoke out were castigated and forced to take cover but while most Canadians have heard of the so called we charity scandal at times forming strong views few are able to recount the true facts misperceptions and confusion have ruled the day and many of the most important voices including those of educators and young people have gone unreported and unheard in this book former we board member and lawyer tawfiq rangwala unpacks the evidence and provides the critical context around the headline grabbing controversies that have shaped the narrative drawing on the factual record his personal experiences inside the organization and extensive interviews with supporters and critics rangwala cuts through the fog and explains what really happened why it happened and who should be held to account the author goes even deeper with insightful compassionate and heartbreaking interviews with we supporters benefactors and the politicians that used the awarding of the contract during the global pandemic crisis to paint a picture of conflicts of interest and special favours by the prime minister along the way we learn what has been lost and the personal cost to Canadians and people around the world more than just a story of the rise and fall of an iconic global charity this is a cautionary tale of the collateral damage that can be levelled by unchecked partisan politics social media pundits and sensationalist headlines in the end Canadians are left to ponder whether the real scandal is the demise of we charity and the values of fair play and due process that most of us hold dear the acclaimed editor of the new york times book review takes readers on a nostalgic tour of the pre internet age offering powerful insights into both the profound and the seemingly trivial things we ve lost named one of the ten best books of the year by chicago tribune and the dallas morning news a deft blend of nostalgia humor and devastating insights people remember all those ingrained habits cherished ideas beloved objects and stubborn preferences from the pre internet age they re gone to some of those things we can say good riddance but many we miss terribly whatever our emotional response to this departed realm we are faced with the fact that nearly every aspect of modern life now takes place in filtered isolated corners of cyberspace a space that has slowly subsumed our physical habitats replacing or transforming the office our local library a favorite bar the movie theater and the coffee shop where people met one another s gaze from across the room even as we ve gained the ability to gather without leaving our house many of the fundamentally human experiences that have sustained us have disappeared in one hundred glimpses of that pre internet world pamela paul editor of the new york times book review presents a captivating record enlivened with illustrations of the world before cyberspace from voicemails to blind dates to punctuation to civility there are the small losses postcards the blessings of an adolescence largely spared of documentation the rolodex and the genuine surprises at high school reunions but there are larger repercussions too weaker memories the inability to entertain oneself and the utter demolition of privacy 100 things we ve lost to the internet is at once an evocative swan song for a disappearing era and perhaps a guide to reclaiming just a little bit more of the world irl
