the first edition of communication in palliative nursing was published in 2012 and became the market leader for nurses wanting to learn more about how to improve and teach palliative care communication for the last 8 years it has remained the only text solely focused on the vital role of nurses in palliative care during this time the comfort model was taught to nurses nationwide who brought the curriculum back to their own institutions and taught components of the model to more than 10 000 healthcare providers across the united states wittenberg ferrell goldsmith ragan buller 2017 numerous journal articles and research studies have been produced to highlight the principle components of the comfort model and test its effectiveness among healthcare audiences across a variety of clinical and educational settings through this all as the model was disseminated to clinical audiences of bedside nurses nurse leaders nursing students and interprofessional learners feedback was captured about comfort comments revealed major components of the model that were working and weren t working for the nurses and other healthcare providers who utilized the strategies with patients and families and began using curriculum tools for teaching and integrating palliative care communication instruction so much like the model s grounding in a transactional communication approach which relies on the co created interaction between parties it was clear that the comfort model was also ebbing and flowing and had to change more importantly palliative care has been growing changing expanding and becoming more sophisticated more wide spread now more than ever before palliative care is provided in the home clinic or inpatient setting and serves patients who are seriously or chronically ill and their families it became evident that in order to continue improvements to the model and to keep up with the changing landscape of palliative care and palliative patient populations a new edition was necessary before we highlight the changes it is never too early to overstate our steadfast commitment to the following principles we believe that communication research and theory can shape palliative care practices providing tools for a variety of contexts we believe that palliative care offering compassionate holistic treatment for patients and their families will not be possible without caring for the entire person body and mind we believe that communicating about palliative care must begin at diagnosis of serious illness not just at end stages we believe in a patient centered approach to communication that emphasizes the role of the family caregiver in the illness trajectory we believe that intentional communication emphasizing team processes among physicians nurses social workers chaplains and other healthcare professionals improves palliative care practice we believe that palliative care should be introduced early in the communication education of all health professionals we believe that education about palliative care and communication must extend to patients and families who can then advocate for and partner more productively in such services we believe that communication with the family caregiver is essential for the treatment of pain and symptom management we believe that frequent conversations are needed across the disease care trajectory as patients and families encounter ongoing points of decision making i am most excited and impressed with the scope and focus of this work as i began to read it i had trouble putting it down it is highly readable engaging all inclusive and most informative jean watson rn phd hnc faan i am honored and delighted to recommend this text for all nurses who cared for and care about
