orientations and performance of journalists who reported the conflict involving the indigenous christians and hausa fulani muslim settlers of jos a city in north central nigeria inhabited by approximately one million people the book provides empirical evidence of the strategies and the representations of ethnic and religious identities in the conflict narratives focusing on the most cited and vicious conflicts in jos which occurred in 2001 2008 and 2010 thus mediated conflict research is revisited placing media logics at the heart of the conflict the text proposes solutions review journalism srj as a framework for conflict reporting and argues that a review process is necessary to measure impact the next generation of oncological hyperthermia involves the medical innovation of selectively heating up the malignant cells of the body in a controlled way the easily distinguishable biophysical and physiological characteristics of cancer cells and their immediate environment are the focus of the targeted energy delivery of this treatment this heterogenic heating concept breaks with the homogeneous nature of conventional hyperthermia where an isothermally equal temperature is applied to the large surface area of a solid tumor due to its selectivity the new concept enables the usage of a significantly lower energy making it safer less toxic and easier to use this book shows the challenges facing oncological hyperthermia and highlights clinical results obtained in various countries it also presents discussions about the theoretical basis of the method adding some technical discussions and clarifying the most difficult points of its design the contributions dealing with clinical results use state of art conventional therapies with complementary hyperthermia and necessary to respond to higher education students needs yakir paz argues that ancient homeric scholarship had a major impact on the formation of rabbinic biblical commentaries and their modes of exegesis this impact is discernible not only in the terminology and hermeneutical techniques used by the rabbis but also in their perception of the bible as a literary product their didactic methods editorial principles and aesthetic sensitivities in fact it is the influence of homeric scholarship which can best explain the drastic differences between earlier biblical commentaries from palestine such as those found among the dead sea scrolls and the scholastic halakhic midrashim second to third century ce the results of the author s study call for a re examination of many assumptions regarding the emergence of midrash as well as a broader appreciation of the impact of homeric scholarship on biblical exegesis in antiquity the robert wood johnson foundation initiative on the future
