Leaders Eat Last 2014-01-07

the new york times bestseller by the acclaimed bestselling author of start with why and together is better now with an expanded chapter and appendix on leading millennials based on simon sinek's viral video millennials in the workplace 150 million views imagine a world where almost everyone wakes up inspired to go to work feels trusted and valued during the day then returns home feeling fulfilled this is not a crazy idealized notion today in many successful organizations great leaders create environments in which people naturally work together to do remarkable things in his work with organizations around the world simon sinek noticed that some teams trust each other so deeply that they would literally put their lives on the line for each other other teams no matter what incentives are offered are doomed to infighting fragmentation and failure why the answer became clear during a conversation with a marine corps general officers eat last he said sinek watched as the most junior marines ate first while the most senior marines took their place at the back of the line what's symbolic in the chow hall is deadly serious on the battlefield great leaders sacrifice their own comfort even their own survival for the good of those in their care too many workplaces are driven by cynicism paranoia and self interest but the best ones foster trust and cooperation because their leaders build what sinek calls a circle of safety that separates the security inside the team from the challenges outside sinek illustrates his ideas with fascinating true stories that range from the military to big business from government to investment banking

Video Marketing Made Simple For Business Owners 2020-09-18 video marketing is literally on fire embrace the power and potential of video marketing and use this medium to catapult your web business to the next level check out on video marketing made simple for business owners finally you have this once in lifetime opportunity to get your hands on the video marketing tools strategies that are generating million dollar revenues businesses invest a lot of time determining who their target demographic is and for good reason when a business knows which demographic is buying and using their product it's going to be easier to market to that demographic middle aged women are going to respond to ads differently than millennials and what one group finds engaging and interesting another may not so it's important for businesses to understand what demographic they are targeting so they get the marketing just right for them but businesses don't have to go to such trouble when they're using video marketing because video marketing reaches every demographic and is interesting to every demographic and this is because men and women and people of every age love video as long as it's interesting and creative people will like a video regardless of their background or history this can be a bonus for businesses that know who their demographic is simply because more people will share it and like it even if they don't make up part of the business demographic but it's also especially good news for businesses with a shifting demographic or for those that don't know how it makes up their demographic that happens sometimes when a business changes directions or changes their product or service slightly and then they have to start back at square one with their marketing efforts but when a business has already created videos as part of their marketing plan they don't have to change a thing because those videos will already be suitable for every demographic imagine one type of marketing that appeals to every single demographic it seems too good to be true but it's not that type of marketing is video marketing and reaching every demographic is just one very good reason why every business should be investing in it

how amateur programmers in 1980s czechoslovakia discovered games as a medium using them not only for entertainment but also as a means of self expression aside from the exceptional history of tetris very little is known about gaming culture behind the iron curtain but despite the scarcity of home computers and the absence of hardware and software markets czechoslovakia hosted a remarkably active diy microcomputer scene in the 1980s producing more than two hundred games that were by turns creative inventive and politically subversive in gaming the iron curtain jaroslav švelch offers the first social history of gaming and game design in 1980s czechoslovakia and the first book length treatment of computer gaming in any country of the soviet bloc švelch describes how amateur programmers in 1980s czechoslovakia discovered games as a medium using them not only for entertainment but also as a means of self expression sheltered in state supported computer clubs local programmers fashioned games into a medium of expression that unlike television or the press was neither regulated nor censored in the final years of communist rule czechoslovak programmers were among the first in the world to make activist games about current political events anticipating trends observed decades later in independent or experimental titles drawing from extensive interviews as well as political economic and social history gaming the iron curtain tells a compelling tale of gaming the system introducing us to individuals who used their ingenuity to be active be creative and be heard

Transnational Belonging and Female Agency in the Arts 2022-10-20 transnational belonging and female agency in the arts interrogates the politics of space expressed via womxn's artistic practices which prioritise solidarity and collaboration across borders imagining attentive geographies of difference it considers belonging as a manifestation of processes of becoming that traverse borders and generate new spaces and forms of difference in doing so the book aims to catalyse mutual social relations founded upon responsibility and response ability to each other the transnational framework activates concerns around belonging at a time of intensified divisions partitioning global narratives unequal trajectories and increasing violence against bodies of the most vulnerable largely founded on eurocentric paradigms of political economic and cultural superiority the contributors engage in a conversation signalling transversal thinking and artmaking in order to articulate and activate in between spaces this is to welcome co affective models of belonging that question versatile embodiments of subjectivity as both agentic and as interrelational organised around the triangulation of modes of belonging spatial affective and collective overarched by a transnational lens that acknowledges non hierarchical local and socially relevant genealogies against universalising politics of globalisation these essays consider afresh ways in which female agency disrupts borders and activates concerns around different forms of belonging citizenship and transnationalisms cover image credit keren anavy garden of living images 2018 general installation view detail courtesy of the artist and wave hill photographer stefan hagen
