4. Lean Management Summit 2012-08-28 by the time you get your hands on this magazine a wave of changes is expected to happen tension of the recent spm exams would have plummeted as the holiday spirit envelops us and while everything is bright and merry some of you cpuld be at the facon education fair in klcc this december deciding which course to take whilst silently hoping you get aces on your actual spm results nagging thoughts you would rather muffle with the latest star wars movie or new year s dinner party nerve wracking it is change is exciting it s a cycle that all of us operate in and that s totally fine as i ve been there too taking over the magazine with a fresh team of young writers was a tough experience but it was a great opportunity to decide and flesh out new ideas thoughts of failing trouble our minds but those are the very things that hinder us from growing after having said that i would encourage all of you to be recipe for change don t be afraid to cook up some trouble

Proceedings of the ASME International Design Engineering Technical Conferences and Computers and Information in Engineering Conference 2005 successful producers of machine tools today must offer customers highly efficient and accurate machines this can only be achieved with the help of modern software in research construction production and quality control trends in development are oriented towards modular construction machines the application of modern tools and the progressive construction of headstock has increased cutting speeds thus significantly increasing the machine s productivity the first section of the book is focused on trends in the development of machines a second very significant machine parameter is accuracy the rigidity of the machine is a necessary condition for achieving its required accuracy the second part of the book is dedicated to the effect of the individual constructional nodes on stability the optimization of system rigidity and the measuring of the accuracy of the machining tools the aim of the third and final section of the book is to point out the widest possibilities for the application of machine tools in industry an example is presented of the application of machining tools in the orthoses manufacture

Proceedings of Innovative Research and Industrial Dialogue 2016 design and manufacturing is the essential element in any product development lifecycle industry vendors and users have been seeking a common language to be used for the entire product development lifecycle that can describe design manufacturing and other data pertaining to the product many solutions were proposed the most successful being the standard for exchange of product model step step provides a mechanism that is capable of describing product data independent from any particular system the nature of this description makes it suitable not only for neutral file exchange but also as a basis for implementing sharing and archiving product databases iso 10303 ap203 is the first and perhaps the most successful ap developed to exchange design data between different cad systems going from geometric data as in ap203 to features as in ap224 represents an important step towards having the right type of data in a step based cad cam system of particular significance is the publication of step nc as an extension of step to nc utilising feature based concepts for cnc machining purposes the aim of this book is to provide a snapshot of the recent research outcomes and implementation cases in the field of design and manufacturing where step is used as the primary data representation protocol the 20 chapters are contributed by authors from most of the top research teams in the world these research teams are based in national research institutes industries as well as universities
