in the failure and the future of accounting david hatherly rethinks accounting in the light of a financial crisis which exposed its limitations he reminds us that in the run up to 2008 the accounts of financial institutions reported increasing profits and healthy balance sheets whilst their business models were undermining their own financial health and the economy accounts failed to provide appropriate feedback on business performance this failure illustrated a general problem there is a need in all companies for better alignment between the business model and the accounting model to understand the performance of the business we need to know how much value is created and how value is created who it is created for what kind of value is created and how it is measured here professor hatherly provides an accounting model that addresses all these questions coordinating business as strategy business as a stakeholder network and business as value the four slice 4s accounting model overcomes the complexity and incoherence of existing accounting standards it allows managers and shareholders to analyse the effectiveness of the business model and for management to be held to account it prevents the misreporting of speculative gains as distributable income and therefore allows capital to be better allocated towards productive enterprise making financial crises less likely with its insights into both accounting and business more generally this book is essential reading for accountants and accountancy students and for those running businesses of any description doctoral thesis dissertation from the year 2014 in the subject business economics business management corporate governance grade 72 aston university business school course msc in accounting and finance language english abstract this report provides an analysis and evaluation over the executive remuneration issues the basic issues in this report raised the public debate and the academic literature findings over the misalignment between the pay and performance and the level of executives emoluments in order to provide a more specific and practical perspective of the issues raised this project used a case study of tate lyle plc and its main competitor associated british foods plc methods of analysis include the review over the uk corporate governance evolution on executive remuneration matters the second part of the review is based on the academic literature review furthermore the internal structure of both companies and the level of salaries in the hierarchy give an explanation over the level of the executive emoluments moreover the structure of the executive remuneration is approved in both companies by the majority of the shareholders and there is evidence that the short term and long term performance of the companies have an important effect on executives salary last but not least there is evidence that the executive remuneration is almost the same across the same industry even if the performance between two companies is different the report finds that both companies are in line with uk corporate governance code guidelines and aligned pay with performance however there are not adequate case studies through different industries in order to have a more precise information over the relationship between pay and performance of other companies the major area of weakness on the academic literature is the lack of case studies which can provide more detailed information of practical implementations of the code and academic literature moreover the institutions and most of the academic research is based on using average figures based on the ftse100 ftse250 and ftse350 indexes the report also investigates the fact that the analysis conducted has limitations some of the limitations include the lack of abf s annual report for 2014 in order to overpass this difficulty this project used the annual report of 2013 for both companies another
