The Ridgeway 2011 2011-05 the walks in this book each including a short element of the official ridgeway path aim to show you the astonishing variety of historic interest and scenery to be found in these chalk hills from the intimate wild flower filled combes of the chiltern to the sweeping views of the marlbrough downs

Ridgeway Path 1985-01-01 wednesday wanders is a book about walking not a guidebook with detailed route descriptions and maps but the journal of a walker looking to broaden his horizons by seeing what could be achieved with an early start and still be home for tea or supper more often weekly adventures setting out from northwest london to explore some of the long distance footpaths of southeast england written in a light hearted humorous but sometimes thoughtful style it s a journal of determination and achievement sitting alongside not a little folly with some inept navigation and unrealistic plans more importantly it s about what happened along the way the fascination of places visited the people met the animals encountered and perhaps most significantly discovering the unexpected beauty and varied countryside in this corner of the country each chapter covers one of the seven routes attempted starting with the london loop although this was the last walk completed chapter two returns to the beginning with a naïve walker setting out on the first stage of the north downs way from farnham to guildford on a wet and travel disrupted day in early november that chapter finishes five months later on a bright but windy spring day along the cliff tops into dover proving that you can indeed complete a long distance path in day trips five more routes are covered the ridgeway ickniel way path the chiltern way greensand way and the hertfordshire way some walks were interrupted by the covid 19 pandemic or the onset of winter when the days were too short to complete their further reaches but all were eventually finished a thousand miles of walking recalled in a diary entry format each outing is dated and the location and mileage given

The Ridgeway Path 1981-01-01 the south west coast path national trail swcp measures a staggering 630 miles 1015km from minehead on the somerset coast right round devon and cornwall to poole in dorset the guidebook divides the route into 45 stages of between 12.5 to 37.5km beginning and ending where amenities are available written by prolific outdoor writer paddy dillon this guidebook is packed with lots of information for planning your walk including clear step by step route descriptions and os map extracts public transport links accommodation and facilities along the way also described is the 17 mile south dorset ridgeway from west bexington to osmington mills which can be used as a scenic way to shave 42 miles off the total distance this epic route takes in exmoor national park five aonbs and the jurassic coast world heritage site besides various nature reserves and sssis no other stretch of coastline compares for scenic splendour historical sites and availability of refreshments accommodation and public transport making it easy to split the south west coast path into week or weekend long sections

The Oldest Road 1975 acclaimed travel writer oliver smith sets out to radically reframe our idea of pilgrimage in britain by retracing sacred travel made across time from murmurs of ritual journeys in the depths of ice age to new pilgrimages of the 21st century he embarks on an epic adventure across sacred british landscapes climbing into remote sea caves sleeping inside neolithic tombs scaling forgotten holy mountains and once marooning himself at sea following holy roads to churches cathedrals and standing stones this evocative and enlightening travelogue explores places prehistoric pagan and christian but also reveals how football stadiums and music festivals have become contemporary places of pilgrimage the routes walked are often ancient the pilgrims he meets are always modern but underpinning the book is a timeless truth that making journeys has always been a way of making meaning so often oliver finds the unravelling of a path goes in tandem with the unravelling of the soul

The Ridgeway Path 1975 the ridgeway stretches for some 85 miles from avebury in wiltshire to ivinghoe beacon in buckinghamshire it is thought to be the oldest road in great britain this book combines information on the long distance path with simple circular pub walks along the route

The Ridgeway National Trail Guide 2024 2024-04-05 an indefatigable walker david bathurst has unlaced his boots to produce this unique companion to the country s most rewarding hilltop trails from the pennine way to the misty malverns his appreciation of the beauty and history of the british countryside and his light hearted style will appeal to experienced and

novice walkers alike

On the Chalk 2021-11-07 discover the rich history of Britain's millennia old network of pathways and it will be impossible to take an unremarkable walk again a rallying cry to reclaim lost routes and preserve this precious resource for future generations walk magazine hundreds of thousands of miles of paths reach into and connect communities across England and Wales but by 2026 10 000 miles of undiscovered footpaths around Britain stand to be lost Jack Cornish has dedicated the last five years of his life to walking these forgotten routes now in the lost paths he will show you just how special these forgotten rights of way are and how embedded each path is in the history of Britain footpaths tracks country lanes and urban streets illuminate how our ancestors interacted with and shaped their landscapes in the pursuit of commerce salvation escape war and leisure paths are an often overlooked part of our everyday life and our country's history crucial to understanding the cultural and environmental history of us as a nation in our landscape this is a celebration of an ancient network and a rallying cry to reclaim what has been lost and preserve it for future generations Ridgeway National Trail Companion 2004-02-01 now a major TV series by Barry Jenkins coming May 2021 winner of the Pulitzer Prize for Fiction 2017 winner of the Arthur C Clarke Award 2017 longlisted for the Booker Prize 2017 National Book Award winner 2016 Whitehead is on a roll the reviews have been sublime Guardian Luminous Furious Wildly Inventive Observer hands down one of the best if not the best book I've read this year Stylist Dazzling New York Review of Books praised by Barack Obama and an Oprah Book Club pick the Underground Railroad by Colson Whitehead won the National Book Award 2016 and the Pulitzer Prize for Fiction 2017 Cora is a slave on a cotton plantation in Georgia all the slaves lead a hellish existence but Cora has it worse than most she is an outcast even among her fellow Africans and she is approaching womanhood where it is clear even greater pain awaits when Caesar a slave recently arrived from Virginia tells her about the Underground Railroad they take the perilous decision to escape to the north in Whitehead's razor sharp imagining of the antebellum South the Underground Railroad has assumed a physical form a dilapidated box car pulled along subterranean tracks by a steam locomotive picking up fugitives wherever it can Cora and Caesar's first stop is South Carolina in a city that initially seems like a haven but its placid surface masks an infernal scheme designed for its unknowing black inhabitants and even worse Ridgeway the relentless slave catcher sent to find Cora is close on their heels forced to flee again Cora embarks on a harrowing flight state by state seeking true freedom at each stop on her journey Cora encounters a different world as Whitehead brilliantly recreates the unique terrors for black people in the pre civil war era his narrative seamlessly weaves the saga of America from the brutal importation of Africans to the unfulfilled promises of the present day the Underground Railroad is at once the story of one woman's ferocious will to escape the horrors of bondage and a shatteringly powerful meditation on history

The Ridgeway Adventure Atlas 2019-04-09 imagine freewheeling through tufted French vineyards scaling the rocky cloud topped tracks in the Himalayas or rattling past whitewashed sugar cube houses in narrow Spanish valleys from surviving the peaks of the Yorkshire Dales to tackling truly hair raising descents in rural Cuba the sheer variety of routes in the 50 greatest bike rides of the world will have you reaching for your bicycle clips helmet and gloves Sarah Woods tells tales of scenic single tracks switchback climbs and routes newly discovered from around the world each with valuable tips and details to satisfy every cycling enthusiast it's time to get those panniers packed and sprockets checked and to climb into the saddle

Rambling Man Walks The Ridgeway 2013-01-26 I am already planning the next adventure the wanderlust that infected me has no cure it all started in Fishguard in the mid 1970s when aged fifteen Martyn Howe and a friend set off on the Pembrokeshire Coast Path armed with big rucksacks borrowed boots a primus stove and a pint of paraffin and a thirst for adventure after repeating the route almost thirty years later martyn was inspired to walk every national trail in england and wales plus the four long distance routes now among the great trails in scotland his 3 000 mile journey included treks along the south west coast path the pennine way the cotswold way and the west highland way he finally achieved his ambition in 2016 when he arrived in cromer in norfolk only to set a new goal of walking the england and wales coast paths and the scottish national trail in tales from the big trails martyn vividly describes the diverse landscapes wildlife culture and heritage he encounters around the british isles and the physical and mental health benefits he derives from walking he also celebrates the people who enrich his travels including fellow long distance hikers tourists discovering britain s charm farmers working the land and the friendly and eccentric owners of hostels campsites and b bs and when he is asked why do you do it the answer is as simple as placing one foot in front of the other it makes me happy

The Icknield Way Path 2012 whether you fancy strolling the saxon shore wandering in the weald or enjoying a day of dawdling in the capital the fully updated third edition of the rough guide to walks in london and the southeast is the ultimate guide to walks in this richly varied region suitable for all abilities and easily accessible on public transport from london the walks range from short rambles to more challenging weekend hikes and take you through beautiful open countryside rural villages seaside resorts and urban woodland you ll be helped on your way with clear directions stunning photographs and handy maps our expert rough guides author also tells you where to stop for great views includes lively history on everything from smugglers tales to druids and recommends the best places for a filling pub lunch or a well deserved pint there are twelve green walks within the capital covering london s canals and woods and the thames towpath and 33 routes throughout the southeast new accounts focus on finding greenery in the heart of the capital lace up your walking shoes grab the rough guide to walks in london and the southeast and make the most of your time in this picturesque corner of the country

The Ridgeway 2016-12-19 tales of the ridgeway is just that a collection of stories folklore and my own personal observations made over 45 years exploring the archaeology and history of this ancient route way the ridgeway in question is the section that follows the chalk escarpment from the thames at streatley through berkshire oxfordshire and wiltshire to the great neolithic metropolis that is avebury it forms a forty mile downland stretch of the much longer icknield way providing excellent walking and scope for exploration of varied habitats and places of interest in these pages you will find odd snippets of information concerning the archaeological sites but much more human endeavour enterprise and just a little fun my background in archaeology and heritage conservation coupled with my local knowledge will hopefully lend a deeper appreciation of the area to anyone following in my footsteps however this is not a guide book but a celebration of that which is good interesting and a little quirky to be found on some of the best turf in the world under lofty skies this is a landscape that grows on you enjoy

Chilterns and Ridgeway 2001 this set of papers by european and north american archaeologists explore the interface between new spatial technologies and areas of theoretical concern in spatial archaeology differing aspects of landscape such as vision perception and movement are explored through a series of case studies that focus on how spatial technologies can influence archaeological interpretation and to what extent these new technologies can be manipulated to take us beyond 2 dimensional maps individual site based analyses and new applications of predictive modelling are also presented and assessed together with the wider questions of spatial technologies within heritage management

Wednesday Wanders 2024-02-22 a treasure trove of fascinating stories little known places and hidden gems of history westering is a coast to coast british journey from norfolk to the welsh coast by an established travel writer from great yarmouth to aberystwyth westering takes us across england from the fens leicester the black country and central wales it connects landscape place and memory to evoke a narrative unravelling the deep topography and following a westerly route that runs against the grain of the land its geology culture and historical bedrock with the industrial midlands sandwiched between bucolic landscapes in east anglia and wales here we explore places too often overlooked along the way we encounter deserted medieval villages battlefield sites the ghosts of roman soldiers valleys drowned for reservoirs ancient forests john clare s beloved fields and the urban edgelands notions of home and belonging landscapes of loss and absence birds and the resilience of nature the psychology of walking and the psychogeography of liminal places all frame the story

Walking the South West Coast Path 2024-01-15 this title was first published in 2003 the history of roads in great britain has not been one of steady development but rather one that has waxed and waned in response to social military and economic needs and also as to whether there have been alternative methods of transport available paralleling this the technical aspects of road construction with the one great exception of roman roads can be seen as a fitful progression of improvement followed by neglect as the roadmaker has responded albeit tardily on occasion to the needs of the road user this text describes the technical development of british roads in relation to the needs of the time and thereby touches upon its relation to the history of the country more generally

On This Holy Island 2024-03-28 in an advanced society like the u s where an array of processes work against gender inequality how does this inequality persist integrating research from sociology social cognition and psychology and organizational behavior framed by gender identifies the general processes through which gender as a principle of inequality rewrites itself into new forms of social and economic organization cecilia ridgeway argues that people confront uncertain circumstances with gender beliefs that are more traditional than those circumstances they implicitly draw on the too convenient cultural frame of gender to help organize new ways of doing things thereby re inscribing trailing gender stereotypes into the new activities procedures and forms of organization this dynamic does not make equality unattainable but suggests a constant struggle with uneven results demonstrating how personal interactions translate into larger structures of inequality framed by gender is a powerful and original take on the troubling endurance of gender inequality
