Ntiaj teb ua ntej Nau-a 2023-09-18 from the author of the latehomecomer a powerful memoir of her father a hmong song poet who sacrificed his gift for his children's future in America in the Hmong tradition the song poet recounts the story of his people their history and tragedies joys and losses extemporizing or drawing on folk tales he keeps the past alive invokes the spirits and the homeland and records courtships births weddings and wishes following her award winning book The Latecomer Kao Kalia Yang now retells the life of her father Bee Yang the song poet a Hmong refugee in Minnesota driven from the mountains of Laos by America's secret war Bee lost his father as a young boy and keenly felt his orphanhood he would wander from one neighbor to the next collecting the things they said to each other whispering the words to himself at night until one day a song was born Bee sings the life of his people through the war torn jungle and a Thai refugee camp but the songs fall away in the cold bitter world of a Minneapolis housing project and on the factory floor until with the death of Bee's mother the songs leave him for good but before they do Bee with his poetry has polished a life of poverty for his children burnished their grim reality so that they might shine written with the exquisite beauty for which Kao Kalia Yang is renowned the song poet is a love story of a daughter for her father a father for his children a people for their land their traditions and all that they have lost

The Song Poet 2016-05-10 an instant New York Times bestseller named a best book of 2019 by Time Amazon and the Washington Post a wired must read book of summer Gretchen McCulloch is the internet's favorite linguist and this book is essential reading reading her work is like suddenly being able to see the matrix Jonny Sun author of Everyone's a Little Bit when you're a little bit too because internet is for anyone who's ever puzzled over how to punctuate a text message or wondered where memes come from it's the perfect book for understanding how the internet is changing the English language why that's a good thing and what our online interactions reveal about who we are language is humanity's most spectacular open source project and the internet is making our language change faster and in more interesting ways than ever before internet conversations are structured by the shape of our apps and platforms from the grammar of status updates to the protocols of comments and replies linguistically inventive online communities spread new slang and jargon with dizzying speed what's more social media is a vast laboratory of unedited unfiltered words where we can watch language evolve in real time even the most absurd looking slang has genuine patterns behind it internet linguist Gretchen McCulloch explores the deep forces that shape human language and influence the way we communicate with one another she explains how your first social internet experience influences whether you prefer lol or lol why sparkly tildes succeeded where centuries of proposals for irony punctuation had failed what emoji have in common with physical gestures and how the artfully disarrayed language of animal memes like lolcats and doggo made them more likely to spread

Because Internet 2019-07-23 this simple book introduces readers to the many looks of the Hmong people while building early reading concepts the repetition and simplicity of this book allow early readers to succeed children can practice directionality and 1:1 correspondence while gaining confidence with their reading Hmong students will also be able to validate their cultures and build personal connections with the pictures

Tig, Toog/Hip, Hop 2012-04 cognitive and working memory training assembles an interdisciplinary group of distinguished authors all experts in the field who have been testing the efficacy of cognitive and working memory training using a combination of behavioral neuroimaging meta analytic and computational modelling methods this edited volume is a defining resource on the practicality and utility of the field of cognitive training research in general and working memory training in particular importantly one focus of the book is on the notion of transfer namely the extent to which cognitive training be it through music video game play or working memory demanding interventions at school generalizes to learning and performance measures that were decidedly not part of the training regimen as most cognitive scientists and perhaps many casual observers recognize the notions of cognitive training and transfer have been widely controversial for many reasons including disagreement over the reliability of outcomes and consensus on methodological best practices and even the ecological validity of laboratory based tests this collection does not resolve these debates of course but its contribution is to address them directly by creating an exchange in a single compendium among scientists who in separate research publications do not always reach the same conclusions the book is organized around comprehensive overview chapters from different disciplinary perspectives cognitive psychology by hicks and engle neuroscience by kuchinsky and haarmann and development by ling and diamond that define major issues terms and themes in the field with a pointed set of challenge questions to which other scientists respond in subsequent chapters the goal of this volume is to educate it is designed for students and researchers and perhaps the armchair psychologist crucially the contributors recognize that it is good for science to persistently confront our understanding of an area debate and alternative viewpoints backed by theory data and inferences drawn from the evidence is what advances scientific knowledge this book probes established paradigms in cognitive training research and the long form of these chapters not found in scientific journals allows detailed exploration of the current state of the science such breadth intends to invite novel ways of thinking about the nature of cognitive and perceptual plasticity which may enlighten either new efforts at training new inferences about prior results or both
