please note this is a companion version not the original book sample book insights 1 when it comes to snow days or rainy weekends parents are typically frustrated however children are excited about the opportunity to miss school and soon they want to move around 2 rules are important in any activity and treasure hunting is no different make sure that the treasure is hidden well but not too well the losers will pressure the winners into hiding their rewards again for another round so make sure you have enough supplies to last the kids a couple of hours 3 it s important to explain to your kids that this is a one time shot game you re only hiding x amount of dollars and if the winner doesn t want to throw their winnings back into play it s over 4 having a junk drawer is a common feature of american households it s a place where we store all our pens paper clips and forgotten game pieces having a junk drawer is a part of what is considered to be key characteristics of the great american household

if you re in the business of marketing or developing products and programs for kids what kids buy and why belongs in your office how can you create outstanding products and programs that will win in the marketplace and in the hearts of kids and parents. Dan S. Acuff and Robert H. Reiher have invented a development and marketing process called Youth Market Systems that puts the needs, abilities, and interests of kids first. This system makes sure you won't miss the mark whether you're trying to reach young children or teens, boys or girls, or whether you're selling toys, sports equipment, snacks, school supplies, or software based on the latest child development research. What kids buy and why is chock full of provocative information about the cognitive, emotional, and social needs of each age group. This book tells you, among other things, why 3 through 7 year olds love things that transform, why 8 through 12 year olds love to collect stuff, how the play patterns of boys and girls differ, and why kids of all ages love slapstick. What kids buy and why is the result of Acuff and Reiher's almost twenty years of consulting with high profile clients including Johnson & Johnson, Nike, Microsoft, Nestle, Tyco, Disney, Pepsi, Warner Brothers, Lucasfilm, Amblin, Spielberg, Mattel, Hasbro, Kraft, Coca-Cola, Quaker, Oats, General Mills, Broderbund, Bandai, Sega, ABC, CBS, I-Hop, Domino's, Hardee's, and Kellogg's. Special features include an innovative matrix for speedy, accurate product analysis and program development, a clear step-by-step process for making decisions that increase your product's appeal to kids tools and techniques for creating characters that kids love here is the complete one stop tool for understanding what children of all ages want to buy
