the sandman's coming like an evening breeze in the rice the sandman could not be stopped from the tepid rice paddies and steaming jungles came the one who made the soldiers sleep this enigmatic persona and bane of the north vietnamese as well as the american and south vietnamese forces again emerges after 30 years to describe the emotional journey that forged the psyche of a dreaded assassin and the dedicated ally of the vietnamese who knew this special operations officer the sandman in vietnam essays on engagements presents a fresh perspective and provides critical insights on the southeast asian campaigns in the year of the monkey 1968 and how those events continue to affect our lives and mold our society the sandman places the aloof accounts of military operations second to the emotional battles that were fought lost and seldom won the sandman offers readers a view of the soldiers paradox soldiers must by military doctrine do the impossible simultaneously the soldier must deny the existence of emotion that which spurs one to do the impossible here readers can experience the conflict and find themselves within reach of the highs and lows that only the combat soldiers know as you read the sandman you will find yourself laughing till the tears run down your cheeks then notice you are crying at the profound sadness further the sandman offers the millions of family members and friends of these soldiers a frame of reference that helps them understand their sons husbands and lovers and how the experience of southeast asia affected their relationships these readers who have been dealing with the residual damage of southeast asia can come to understand the basis for the soldiers point of view and the soldiers methods for processing information reviewer comments this book reveals the legend of the sandman arguably one of if not the most notorious and terrifying assassins of the vietnam war as with most legends this book presents sparkling kernels of truth interspersed in the miasma of fear and danger that was inspired through the embellishments of north and south vietnamese as well as american soldiers yet today the one who made the soldiers sleep has with god s help successfully beaten the sword into a plowshare and i am proud to call the sandman friend maj john m lonergan m d 19th special forces group airborne the tale is told with the same haunting detachment that became the sandman s cloak of survival the details of the sandman s essays on engagements burst from the page like the lethal spurts of an assault rifle then we glimpse for just a moment at that which is everywhere and nowhere that which answered the country s call the intelligent vapor that is the soul of the sandman francie m dalton international management consultant this thought provoking book is not the mcnamara version of winning the hearts and minds of the people furthermore not everyone will find the sandman entertaining nor will they agree its underlying message but not often does everyone agree with the truth some may not even believe it but they won t be able to avoid thinking about it and what it means j bruce medaris lt col retired usma west point class of 1959 deforestation free production will be a requirement of the global market from now through 2030 more than 1 000 financial institutions e g banks trusts donors and 600 multinational companies have pledged to produce and supply zero deforestation agricultural products and these establishments financial institutions and multinational companies are developing a process of testing screening and certification for service providers and countries that produce or export agroforestry products the governments of european countries the americas and australia are also aggressively building a legal framework to monitor and verify that imported goods have not resulted in deforestation or forest degradation in vietnam 92 domestic and foreign companies from 21 fields and industries have signed commitments to achieve zero deforestation by 2020 these industries include fashion apparel and footwear agriculture cosmetics and personal care food and agriculture retail chains home construction furniture and flooring and renovation supplies consumer goods paper and packaging printing and publishing and automotive industry rubber automobile manufacturing these companies contribute greatly to the national gdp and local economic development and are major buyers of agricultural products including coffee wood soybeans and poultry however businesses in vietnam are not prepared to adapt the supply chain of agroforestry products to this trend they require knowledge and skills to face the new market requirements without further research and long term planning vietnam s agroforestry products industry is at risk of losing market share to fierce international competition leading to enormous economic losses for the country the government needs to develop a legal framework to support and monitor companies that meet deforestation free commitments while building the capacity of stakeholders to respond to the requirements of new markets in order to ensure a solid position for agroforestry products and their sustainable contribution to the national economy over the next 30 years
