first published in 1997 this edited volume emerged in response to zambia's recent reinstatement of multiparty democracy and its ensuing economic social policy and public administrative reform following the establishment of the single party state under the united national independence party in 1972 a severe decline in the price of copper zambia's principle export resulted in high national debt and increasing riots this volume situates itself in response to the transition from the unip to the movement for multiparty democracy mmd seeing it as a verdict delivered by the people its authors aim to explore the causes of this verdict through areas such as financial innovation land policy the health industry and universities they thoroughly examine the attempts and potential pitfalls of the reform programme as well as its impact on zambian society the general conclusion reached by the contributors to this volume is that while the reform programme is a necessary condition for economic rebirth its details require careful consideration in order to ensure it has the desired socio-economic impact on the people of zambia this should also serve as an important example to other countries embarking on similar programmes of reform

Political or Patriotic Cadres? The Question Begs 2017

there are various reasons why the road asset in zambia has been deteriorating over the past five decades since independence much effort to restore the road asset to its original value and keep it maintained in a good and safe condition was initiated in mid 1990s with the launch of the road sector investment plan phase i which was immediately followed by the launch of a phase ii to run from 2003 to 2013 it is my appreciation that many diagnostic studies into road financing strategies which could have led to inefficient road asset management in zambia have been undertaken and various solutions tendered the author takes cognizance that resource mobilization for road construction and maintenance and subsequent allocation to respective road programs can often be problematic for an emerging country like zambia it has the potential to lead to inefficiencies in road asset management as has evidently been demonstrated in the declining road asset value over time the political as well as the economic landscape plays a vital role in resource mobilization and allocation strategies as much as the institutional and the legal framework do the failure to clear the backlog of maintenance which normally results largely from deferment of scheduled maintenance due to insufficient annual budgetary allocation to the road sector maintenance programs has led to the significant deterioration in road network condition exorbitant road construction costs have posed additional challenges to the fiscus thereby constraining both the quantity and quality of road infrastructure that could be constructed and maintained at any given time recent policy drives have been categorical in their preference of new road construction aimed at linking zambia over road maintenance which plays a pivotal role in road asset management this creates a perception that policy pronouncements are at variance to policy documents which promote sustainable economic development through efficient road investments and could be seen as being paradoxical in that the actual financing strategies are skewed towards road construction a recipe of comfort for the next election challenge due to increased visibility on the ground rather than to maintenance as an astute and effective way of managing the road asset the difficult of establishing congruence between government pronouncements and actual road business strategies in the implementing agencies has over the

this empirically grounded study provides a critical reflection on the land question in africa research on which tends to be tangential conceptually loose and generally inadequate it argues that the most pressing research concern must be to understand the precise nature of the african land question its land reforms and their effects on development to unravel the roots of land conflicts in africa requires thorough understanding of the complex social and political contradictions which have ensued from colonial and post colonial land policies as well as from africa s development and capital accumulation trajectories especially with regard to the land rights of the continent s poor the study thus questions the capacity of emerging neo liberal economic and political regimes in africa to deliver land reforms which address growing inequality and poverty it equally questions the understanding of the nature of popular demands for land reforms by african states and their ability to address these demands under the current global political and economic structures dictated by neo liberalism and its narrow regime of ownership the study invites scholars and policy makers to creatively draw on the specific historical trajectories and contemporary expression of the land and agrarian questions in africa to enrich both theory and practice on land in africa in this book it is argued that narratives about satanism which have become popular in the christian context of zambia from the 1990s onwards make cultural sense because of their links to traditional african notions as well as contemporary christian theologies these narratives also resonate with unease regarding the cultural change which is connected by zambians to modernity narratives about satanism further make personal sense to their narrators the pastors who provide a platform for them and their audiences these arguments contribute to the academic study of religion in africa in particular of african christianity and of witchcraft related phenomena as well as to the global study of discourses on satanism and other conspiracy theories all of these disciplines are related to the topic of satanism in zambia but the phenomenon itself has not been discussed at length which makes the existing academic literature incomplete and inadequate the comprehensive focus on the case of narratives about satanism in zambia offers new insights and enhances current theoretical reflection the research presented in this book is original carried out during fieldwork spanning from 2012 to 2017 in zambia and literature study in the years after that methodologically the research is based on participant observation in churches in which testimonies of ex satanists were presented as well as participation in the fingers of thomas a roman catholic group which investigates rumours about satanism furthermore it is based on interviews with pastors and students of theology active in the deliverance ministry from pentecostal as well as mainline churches and also on interviews with people who have had experiences of satanism finally the research is based on an analysis of collected testimonies of ex satanists as they were presented in these interviews in churches on radio programmes in newspapers and in other sources doctoral thesis dissertation from the year 2015 in the subject engineering general basics course civil engineering management construction project management language english abstract this research topic is entitled strategic lean thinking and value management for gravel roads the study captured 82 respondents as research sample to a case study of output performance based contracts oprcs for the construction and maintenance of gravel roads in zambia purposive sampling was used as most research participants were drawn from second generation oprcs that were active between 2009 and 2014 the study was aimed at devising new construction and maintenance contract methods for gravel roads that are based on lean thinking and value management philosophies in zambia the established epistemological background to the study is that most of the zambian road network is of gravel or earth standards and is therefore imperative that they are well maintained to attain desired service levels to properly serve the intended beneficiaries the road users the road development agency annual report of 2009 indicated that 33 000 km of the total 40 671 km core road network is classified as gravel roads unpaved which are at the moment mostly in a deteriorated state the study revealed that currently in zambia gravel road construction projects are commonly being realised through the use of traditional contracts such as admeasured by the use of bills of quantities boqs the lump sum and cost plus etc these are mainly short term form of contracts which to some extent lack some components of sustainable maintenance regimes thereby rendering the government and other promoters efforts futile as gravel roads sooner or later deteriorate just after the first rain season upon their construction this was theoretical perspective which served as driver to the research problem the study noted that current forms of contracts did not inspire aspire and spur the spirit of ownership as the local people were left out in the planning and design stages of gravel road projects despite all the attempts made by government through the rda and other implementing agencies the road construction industry in general has failed to get the best value for money through the use of these conventional types of contracts one of the reasons for this failure according to womack and jones 2003 is that it is hard to define and realise value this is partly because most producers road contractors want to make what they are already making and partly because customers only know some variant of what they are already getting
