as an experiment in reconnecting academia to the broader democracy this work is designed to invigorate public policy debate by rededicating academic work to the pursuit of solutions to society's great problems this monograph integrates theoretical perspectives on affect and learning with recent research in affective computing with an emphasis on building new learning technologies the new perspectives come from the intersection of several research themes basic research on emotion cognition and motivation applied to learning environments pedagogical and motivational strategies that are sensitive to affective and cognitive processes multimodal human computer interfaces with a focus on affect recognition and synthesis recent advances in affect sensitive intelligent tutoring systems novel methodologies to investigate affect and learning neuroscience research on emotions and learning this book outlines and discusses the very wide range of cinema which is to be found in singapore although singapore cinema is a relatively small industry and relatively new it has nevertheless made an impact and continues to develop in interesting ways the book shows that although singapore cinema is often seen as part of diasporic chinese cinema it is in fact much more than this with strong connections to malay cinema and the cinemas of other southeast asian nations moreover the themes and subjects covered by singapore cinema are very wide ranging from conformity to the regime and singapore's national outlook with undesirable subjects overlooked or erased to the sympathetic depiction of minorities and an outlook which is at odds with the official outlook the book will be useful to readers coming new to the subject and wanting a concise overview while at the same time the book puts forward many new research findings and much new thinking the aim of this book is to elucidate the role of forests as part of a landscape in the life of people most landscapes today are cultural landscapes that are influenced by human activity and that in turn have a profound effect on our understanding of and identification with a place the book proposes that a better understanding of the bond between people and forests as integrated part of a landscape may be helpful in landscape planning and may contribute to the discussion of changes in forest cover which has been motivated by land use changes rural development and the global climate debate to this end people's perception of forest landscapes the reasons for different perceptions and future perspectives are discussed given the wide range of forest landscapes and cultural perspectives which exist across the world the book focuses on europe as a test case to explore the various relationships between society culture forests and landscapes it looks at historical evidence of the impacts of people on forests and vice versa explores the current factors affecting people's physical and emotional comfort in forest landscapes and looks ahead to how changes in forest cover may alter the present relationships of people to forests drawing together a diverse literature and combining the expertise of natural and social scientists this book will form a valuable reference for students and researchers working in the fields of landscape ecology and landscape architecture geography social science environmental psychology or environmental history it will also be of interest to researchers government agencies and practitioners with an interest in issues such as sustainable forest management sustainable tourism reserve management urban planning and environmental interpretation narrative perspective is the faculty through which humans understand structure and explore the world that confronts them this is the first volume to bring together the theoretical study of perspective with the rigor of experimental studies combining work in narratology with that in linguistics philosophy film studies literary theory and cognitive psychology the chapters are grouped thematically and drawn together by the editors who provide guidance through this new and fascinating interdisciplinary territory this book offers a detailed analysis and assessment of the state of education round the world the argument is made that education and curriculum practices are deficient for two reasons the first is the adoption by governments policy makers and practitioners of a set of knowledge practices that can be broadly characterised as empiricist and technicist and which has come to dominate how curricula are constructed and certainly how education systems and their work can be described the second is the adoption of a model of curriculum that is both backward looking and in its own terms confused and muddled this book then sets out an alternative model which is more cogent and better focused on human wellbeing this book address fundamental questions of human development revisiting old questions and applying original empirical findings through pressing current case studies contributors examine the ubiquitous interplay among migration development culture human rights and government all toward advancing more effective solutions to international migration issues information on the japanese occupation of malaya and singapore is sparse and japanese language materials are particularly difficult to find because the japanese military systematically destroyed war related documents when the war ended the contributors to this volume participated in a forum that spent four years locating surviving materials relating to the occupation of malaya the group has three objectives to collect primary sources to interview japanese military and civilian officials who took part in the military administration and people in malaysia and singapore who experienced the period and to publish the results of the studies based on interviews with japanese malaysians and singaporeans who lived through the war years and materials gathered from archives and libraries in britain malaysia singapore usa australia and india the forum has produced a number of japanese language publications this book makes available some of their research findings in english topics covered include the watanabe military administration japanese research activities in malaya japan's economic policies malayan communist party leaders and the anti

japanese resistance the massacre of chinese in singapore railway transportation during the japanese occupation period the singapore internment camp for allied civilian women and the japanese surrender this volume is a revised version of akashi yoji ed nippon senryoka no eiryō maraya shingaporu tokyo iwanami shoten publishers 2001 book jacket this book argues that many mental states including such conscious states as perceptual experiences and bodily sensations are identical with brain states thomas robert malthus 1766 1834 was a pioneer in demography economics and social science more generally whose ideas prompted a new malthusian way of thinking about population and the poor on the occasion of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of his birth new perspectives on malthus offers an up to date collection of interdisciplinary essays from leading malthus experts who reassess his work part one looks at malthus's achievements in historical context addressing not only perennial questions such as his attitude to the poor laws but also new topics including his response to environmental themes and his use of information about the new world part two then looks at the complex reception of his ideas by writers scientists politicians and philanthropists from the period of his own lifetime to the present day from charles darwin and h g wells to david attenborough al gore and amartya sen the question of how language emerged is one of the most fascinating and difficult problems in science in recent years a strong resurgence of interest in the emergence of language from an evolutionary perspective has been helped by the convergence of approaches methods and ideas from several disciplines the selection of contributions in this volume highlight scenarios of language origin and the prerequisites for a faculty of language based on biological historical social cultural and paleontological forays into the conditions that brought forth and favored language emergence augmented by insights from sister disciplines the chapters all reflect new speculation discoveries and more refined research methods leading to a more focused understanding of the range of possibilities and how we might choose among them there is much that we do not yet know but the outlines of the path ahead are ever clearer this book explores how the experimental perspective determines what ethical issues new technologies raise and how it helps morally evaluate their introduction this book covers the main topics that students need to learn in a course on industrial organization it reviews the classic models and important empirical evidence related to the field however it will differ from prior textbooks in two ways first this book incorporates contributions from behavioral economics and neuroeconomics providing the reader with a richer understanding of consumer preferences and the motivation for many of the business practices we see today the book discusses how firms exploit consumers who are prone to making mistakes and who suffer from cognitive dissonance attention lapses and bounded rationality for example and will help explain why firms invest in persuasive advertising offer 30 day free trials offer money back guarantees and engage in other observed phenomena that cannot be explained by the traditional approaches to industrial organization a second difference is that this book achieves a balance between textbooks that emphasize formal modeling and those that emphasize the history of the field empirical evidence case studies and policy analysis this text puts more emphasis on the micro foundations i e consumer and producer theory classic game theoretic models and recent contributions from behavioral economics that are pertinent to industrial organization each topic will begin with a discussion of relevant theory and models and will also include a discussion of concrete examples empirical evidence and evidence from case studies this will provide students with a deeper understanding of firm and consumer behavior of the factors that influence market structure and economic performance and of policy issues involving imperfectly competitive markets the book is intended to be a textbook for graduate students mbas and upper level undergraduates and will use examples graphical analysis algebra and simple calculus to explain important ideas and theories in industrial organization experts from all over the world take a critical highly international and often controversial perspective on the adhd phenomenon a condition that has reached global proportions significantly affecting the lives of children parents and teachers worldwide this book raises a number of concerns often not covered by the material currently available to parents and practitioners critical new perspectives on adhd unpicks the myths surrounding the development of this phenomenon and leaves no stone unturned in its search for answers an in depth exploration into the reasons for the emergence and maintenance of adhd lead to suggested explanations of the dominance of us psychiatric models and the need for new markets for major pharmaceutical companies as well as the functions that adhd diagnoses fulfil in families classrooms and communities in a world where moves to educational inclusion are paradoxically paralleled by the ever increasing use of medication to control children's behaviour this book scrutinises current accepted practice and offers alternative perspectives and strategies for teachers and other education professionals this is an invaluable resource for anyone with a serious interest in adhd and other behavioural difficulties extremely useful background reading for pre and in service teachers especially but not only of pre adults the teacher trainer there are no muddled thoughts or fudging of issues here rigby deals head on with difficult issues and the book has a nice literary style that is a pleasure to read an ambitious and creditable achievement with many excellent sections that break new ground while remaining equally accessible to practitioners and researchers educational research this book is written in a lively style and is comprehensive professional social work ken rigby's important book new perspectives on bullying is a useful drawing together of a range of research on bullying and should prove a good general reference point cambridge journal of education anyone developing a policy on dealing with bullying should read this book prime focus rigby's book is a fantastic reference source for anyone who is at all concerned with or interested in the issue of bullying it could well serve as a springboard for a multitude of research projects at the very least the book will provide you with a summary of the very latest research on the subject prime focus written by ken rigby this draws on the author's extensive research to examine how bullying is being understood in different societies and offers critical appraisal of the suggested ways of tackling it the author defines bullying as the systematic abuse of power therefore making it a vital issue for society at large not just schools but the workplace prison and the home young people now magazine this book is an attempt to describe how the problem of bullying has been and is being conceptualised and understood to explain what researchers and educators and others are saying about why there is so much bullying going on and to examine what solutions are being canvassed bullying is a phenomenon one can literally find everywhere it is time that our perspective on bullying extended further afield in a way this book is a testing of the water it is the first book that has attempted to examine bullying comprehensively if i am right in thinking that an examination of bullying as the systematic abuse of power is an issue that is of vital importance to society at large then it should indeed be useful to consider bullying in a wide range of contexts not only in schools the workplace and prisons but also and especially in the home long the preserve of students of domestic violence ken rigby from the preface this book takes as its subject matter bullying behaviour in a wide range of settings including kindergartens schools the workplace in sports and prisons examining bullying in each of these areas it discusses alternative views and perspectives on bullying helping policy makers and professionals to coordinate their work and so tackle the problem effectively dr ken rigby draws upon his extensive research into bullying in different countries societies and social contexts and considers many aspects of victimisation within this broad perspective including the defining characteristics of bullying the harm that bullying does the role of gender race and culture children s and adult s attitudes to and perceptions of bullying current views on methods of prevention and intervention this multi faceted exploration will help to deepen understanding of bullying in its many manifestations it also provides practical and critical discussion of suggested ways of tackling bullying for professionals dealing with it in their field providing valuable guidance in combating an ever present problem this volume offers a selection of revised versions of the papers presented at the 7th international idea conference held at pamukkale university in denizli turkey organised by the association of english language and literary studies in turkey the contributions to this book offer a wide range of research from scholars on a variety of topics in english literature including shakespearean studies victorian colonial and postcolonial literature poetry and drama studies the volume also includes a number of informative research articles on comparative and translation studies which will offer assistance to young scholars in their academic studies in addition to acting as a guide to young academics the book will also function as a fruitful reference book in a wide range of english literary studies the links the conservative right has sought to forge beyond the national over the last century have been too often neglected and this volume sheds new light on transnationalism the right and the ways the two interact this book is testimony to the emergent nature of human security as an idea as a useful construct and as an operational strategy the aim is to showcase new directions that may enrich the human security agenda some human security discourse is still rooted in the traditional language of the aid agency un development economic growth models often hostile to the corporate and business sector and sometimes negligent of sustainability and climate change issues another limited and outmoded approach is an exaggerated focus on western interventions especially military ones as a solution to problems in poor or conflict prone areas human security was introduced as a construct by the undp in 1994 the inherent combination of law enforcement and people centred humanitarianism has strived to provide an umbrella to both protect people from threats while empowering them to control their destinies but with accelerating economic globalization and information flows there is a need to revisit the concept a new paradigm of sustainable human security is required this book argues that proponents of a human security approach should welcome efforts to remove the barriers between enterprise corporations aid and development agencies government agencies citizen groups and the un and work towards multi stakeholder approaches and solutions for vulnerable populations such an approach is clearly vital in responding to the imperatives of concerted action on issues such as climate change hiv terrorism organised crime and poverty the agenda may have changed but it remains true that almost all human tragedies are avoidable this book examines a number of global problems through the lens of human security and the needs of the individual global governance health the environment and the exploitation of natural resources peace and reconciliation the responsibility to protect and economic development and prosperity in the latter case the role of business in the human security pantheon is promulgated there are many reasons why businesses may want to engage with the needs of vulnerable populations not least the fact that companies cannot function without secure trading environments in addition there are growing demands for corporate responsibility and citizenship from markets customers shareholders employees and critically communities this book throws new light on the human security agenda it will be essential reading for anyone involved in the debates on human security as well as for practitioners and scholars in international affairs global governance peace studies climate change and the environment healthcare responsibility to protect and corporate responsibility new perspectives on education for democracy brings together diverse communities of education research in an innovative way to develop a nuanced understanding of the relationship between education and democracy this book synthesises a range of theoretical conceptual and empirical approaches to address the complex challenges faced by young people and societies in the 21st century each chapter provides accounts of local democratic encounters in education while engaging with global debates and issues such as de democratisation and growing social economic and educational inequality this book presents new ways of thinking about democracy local global enactments of democracy through teaching and learning and future thinking for a new era of democracy this book will be relevant for educators researchers and policymakers who are interested in educational sociology critical pedagogy and democratic education this book brings together a collection of emergent research that moves the debate on desistance beyond a general consideration of individual and social structural influences the authors examine empirical developments which have implications for policy surrounding resettlement and re offending but also for punishment practices presenting thought provoking theoretical advances and critiques the editors challenge and enrich traditional understandings of desistance a wide range of chapters explore how some criminal justice interventions hinder the desistance process but also how alternative approaches may be more helpful in promoting and supporting desistance thorough and diverse this book will be of great interest to scholars of criminology and criminal justice social policy sociology and psychology and of special interest to researchers and practitioners working with ex offenders the world we live in is constantly changing climate change transforming gender conceptions emerging issues of food consumption novel forms of family life and technological developments are altering central areas of our forms of life this raises questions of how to cope with and understand the moral changes implicit in such alterations this volume is the first to address moral change as such it brings together anthropologists and philosophers to discuss how to study and theorize the change of norms concepts emotions moral frameworks and forms of personhood this volume presents a selection of some of the most exciting new perspectives on moral development that have emerged over the last decade and have transformed our understanding of the field the contributors to this book cut across traditional boundaries to provide an innovative and integrative approach to fundamental questions dealing with the nature and acquisition of morality in addressing these questions the chapters draw on new work on the origins of morality in infancy and the early years comparative approaches examining morality in primates new perspectives on moral emotions such as guilt and empathy and new perspectives on the emerging moral self in childhood and moral identity in adolescence the book also examines the roles of parenting and culture in children s and adolescents moral development each chapter is framed in theory and methodology and provides illustrative examples of new research to address important questions in the field this book is essential reading for researchers and advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students studying moral development and developmental psychology it will also be of interest to academics and professionals in related fields such as education and public policy since the cultural revolution data have been uncovered to illuminate that tumultuous decade in this volume 13 scholars examine the gap between the ideology of the revolution and the harsh and contradictory reality of its outcome they focus particularly on the violence coercion and constant tension between the need for centralization to enforce policies and the need for decentralizing decision making if those goals were to be achieved new perspectives on structural change is a comprehensive edited volume that outlines both the historical roots and state of the art debates on the role of structural change in the process of economic development including both orthodox and heterodox perspectives and contributions from prominent scholars in this field the volume consists of four main sections the first section covers the theoretical foundations of the structural change literature the second section presents an empirical overview of the major trends of structural change using up to date data sources and methods the third section presents a broad ranging empirical analysis of the drivers of structural change the fourth section examines how processes such as inclusive growth poverty reduction productive employment the global income distribution and environmental sustainability are affected by structural change and how they can be influenced by policy developing countries face the challenge of maintaining economic growth and socio economic development at the core of which sits the construction industry considerable research on construction in developing countries took place in the 1970 s and 1980 s but little since a gap which this book fills including contributions from prominent academics and practitioners in australia china the netherlands portugal singapore south africa switzerland and the uk this is a truly international analysis of a subject of global interest the most insightful and relevant of recent research on topics such as millennium development goals the informal construction sector human resource development technology finance and social change are all addressed in the context of the construction industry in the developing world also considered are other key aspects of construction industry development such as institution building nurturing of contractors and consultants and championing of industry development programmes while the challenge has grown and the needs have become even more pressing the research to date has rarely presented effective solutions focussing on those aspects of the construction industry most crucial to development this is a much needed up to date study that sheds new light on a variety of concepts and issues this is essential reading for researchers professionals and students interested in the construction industry in developing countries readers of this book will be interested in its companion volume contemporary issues of construction in developing countries women make up the vast majority of activists and organizers of grassroots movements fighting against environmental ills that threaten poor and people of color communities this collection of essays pays tribute to the contributions women have made in these endeavors the writers offer varied examples of environmental justice issues such as children s environmental health campaigns cancer research aids hiv activism the environmental genome project and popular culture among many others each one focuses on gender and sexuality as crucial factors in women s or gay men s activism and applies environmental justice principles to related struggles for sexual justice drawing on a wide variety of disciplinary perspectives the contributors offer multiple vantage points on gender sexuality and activism back cover the book is organized around five distinct themes that include studies on graves s own literary criticism offer new insights into his poetry produce commentary on his often overlooked fictional output make some reflections on the origins and importance of his white goddess and examine some literary crosscurrents that have pollinated graves s work book jacket this edited collection provides a state of the art overview of research on willingness to communicate wtc in a second and foreign language in particular it includes innovative studies seeking to demonstrate the ways in which wtc can be examined within the framework of complex dynamic systems how the construct is related to self assessment reticence and extroversion and what it signifies in the case of immigrants another group of papers is related to the role of technology in fostering wtc in different contexts the volume also comprises papers that touch on methodological issues in the study of wtc such as experience case sampling the network approach or the integration of the macro and micro perspective the book will be of values to researchers interested in the study of wtc but will also provide inspiration for students teachers and materials writers this volume aims to broaden the focus of existing loanword research which has mainly been conducted from a systemic and structuralist perspective the eight studies in this volume introduce
