writing migration through the body builds a study of the body as a mutable site for negotiating and articulating the transnational experience of mobility at its core stands a selection of recent migration stories in italian which are brought into dialogue with related material from cultural studies and the visual arts occupying no single disciplinary space and drawing upon an elaborate theoretical framework ranging from phenomenology to anthropology human geography and memory studies this volume explores the ways in which the skin itself operates as a border and brings to the surface the processes by which a sense of place and self are described and communicated through the migrant body through investigating key concepts and practices of transnational embodied experience the book develops the interpretative principle that the individual bodies which move in contemporary migration flows are the primary agents through which the transcultural passages of images emotions ideas memories and also histories and possible futures are enacted the different traditions that have inspired the contributors to this volume can be divided along three different orientations one that is rooted predominantly in sociolinguistics a second that is ethnomethodologically informed and a third that came in the wake of narrative interview research all three share a commitment to view self and identity not as essential properties of the person but as constituted in discursive practices and particularly in narrative moreover since self and identity are held to be phenomena that are contextually and continually generated they are defined and viewed in the plural as selves and identities in the attempt of moving closer toward a process oriented approach to the formation of selves and identities this volume sets the stage for future discussions of the role of narrative and discourse in this generation process and for how a close analysis of these processes can advance an understanding of the world around us and within this world of identities and selves sentiamo dire da più parti la poesia purtroppo vende poco e altri affermano che molti poeti contemporanei atrofizzati e sclerotizzati in piccoli gruppetti e conventicole autoreferenziali sono la causa principale di questo divario fra poesia e mercato fra poesia e lettori la verità è che storicamente la poesia è sempre stata appannaggio di pochi scrittori e lettori sicché mai e poi mai ha costituito un mercato editoriale salvo i rari casi di alcuni premi nobel e solo dopo che costoro erano arrivati all'ambizioso traguardo negli ultimi anni poi fermo restando l'esiguo numero dei lettori si è invece moltiplicato il numero degli autori in un crescendo rossiniano di presunzione e di autoreferenzialità complice magari l'ausilio sostanziale del copia incolla di internet con la razzia di belle parole a mascherare il vuoto delle ispirazioni ed ogni elementare conoscenza di metrica e prosodia queste premesse sono utili per delineare il profilo del poeta luca campi eccezione alla regola ed eccezionale nella qualità del suo verseggiare moderno spregiudicato evocativo e ricco di suggestioni di vita e di viaggio l'ora dei lupi è un libro di ricordi frammenti segni e sogni È anche un diario sono appunti di viaggio intrisi di nomi di luoghi fisici e metafisici versi liberi e moderni quelli di luca campi variabili nella metrica ma assolutamente musicali e godibili non solo nella lettura ma anche e soprattutto nell'ascolto dal vivo in un magico reading laddove la poesia può essere ascoltata e laddove con il linguaggio del corpo e il modo di leggere il testo viene interpretato aggiungendo alla meraviglia del verso la dimensione teatrale della dizione e della recitazione

this book focuses on the autobiographical poetry of early 20th century author antonia pozzi and her lifelong friend and fellow poet vittorio sereni most particularly on the autobiographical format of their writing and its role as a mode of passive resistance to fascist control a mode of resistance familiar to women s writing even before the onset of fascist totalitarianism while sereni is by far the better known author his response to the war experience and particularly to imprisonment recalls pozzi s work on a number of levels in the diaries of both authors autobiography functions as a means of constantly reasserting the self as a unique and separate individual against the totalizing forces of fascist propaganda this phenomenon is apparent in pozzi s work long before it can be seen in sereni s work indeed while pozzi died in 1938 it is only after being drafted into the army in 1941 that sereni really begins to focus on poetry as personal narrative how did voice become a metaphor for selfhood in the western imagination the lyric myth of voice situates the emergence of an ideological connection between voice and subjectivity in late eighteenth century italy where long standing political anxieties and new notions of cultural enlightenment collided in the mythical figure of the lyric poet singer drawing on a range of approaches and frameworks from historical musicology to gender studies disability studies anthropology and literary theory jessica gabriel peritz shows how this ancient yet modern myth of voice attained interpretable form flesh and sound ultimately peritz argues that music and literature together shaped the singing voice into a tool for civilizing modern italian subjects
