in response to a congressional request gao examined issues studied and recommendations made by the president's private sector survey on cost control better known as the grace commission to determine whether 1 the issues and recommendations made on program management and cost control had merit 2 legislation would be necessary to implement the recommendations 3 implementation efforts were completely underway and 4 the savings estimates were realistic gao found that many of the issues studied and recommendations made by the commission had overall merit and that while many have already been implemented by legislative or administrative action many more require additional legislative action to be fully implemented however gao questioned the accuracy of many of the associated savings estimates found flaws in the methodology used to develop some of the estimates and found that the description of the methodology used in some estimates was insufficient to allow an assessment of its validity in most of the instances where gao questioned the methodology used it believed that the savings were overstated gao supported management improvement issues more frequently than policy oriented issues however policy oriented issues constitute a large portion of the total estimated savings gao does not support restructuring federal subsidy programs and fixing federal health care costs to a percentage of the gross national product and it disagreed with selected aspects of recommendations to reduce civilian and military retirement benefits gao support was most extensive in the areas aimed at strengthening federal management systems federal automatic data processing operations federal credit and cash management efforts and civilian procurement and property management activities gao has made similar or related recommendations in nearly half of the areas in which it agreed with the commission additional legislative action would be necessary to fully implement approximately half of the recommendations analyzed transactions in land and other real property differ between countries throughout europe the transaction procedures reflect formal rules but they are also normalized through conventions and professional codes of conduct this complex of technical legal and economic issues was investigated from the point of view of transaction economics through an esf cost supported action g9 modeling real property transactions the research was performed between 2001 and 2005 by researchers mainly from university departments related to land surveying real estate management geo information sciences and knowledge engineering this book represents the final outcome of that study a modeling approach was elaborated and tested on a number of countries especially sweden and slovenia for which the models are shown in this book in the unified modeling language uml the modeling approach leads to transparency and allows comparison nevertheless the influence of the national and social contexts and the different perspectives that can be taken prevent a simple ranking of the studied procedures for those planning or comparing transaction procedures or parts thereof the book supplies a tested approach and methodology but the book eventually warns of simplification in this field full of complex national institutional arrangements
