Artisans and Fair Trade 2012-03 addresses the cultural conditions under which artisan work provides a feasible income alternative to other employment options offers a methodology for assessing the socio economic impacts of fair trade artisan work after agriculture and tourism artisan work provides the next most significant source of income in many developing countries yet because of its image as a soft or frivolous industry some politicians and development professionals question whether the handcraft sector is worthy of investment an opposing view holds that the creation of sustainable employment opportunities for poor people and a positive alternative to mass production outweighs the costs until now the debate has been hampered by a lack of industry data the apparel group marketplace handwork of india serves as the perfect case study to provide this missing information like many fair trade companies it has dual goals to generate income in the global marketplace and foster the empowerment of the low income workers who run and staff the business in conducting interviews with marketplace s artisans managers and founders littrell and dickson produced an in depth socio economic audit of the group over time the result artisans and fair trade provides a quantitatively and qualitatively illuminating study of fair trade impacts and a methodology that is sure to inform current assessment practices in social entrepreneurship and business social responsibility

Artisans and Fair Trade 2010 much has been written about the role of artisan production in promoting socio economic development especially for poor women but there is surprisingly little empirical work that documents the outcomes of artisan and craft work especially under fair trade conditions artisans and fair trade helps close the gap ùellen m charlton professor of political science colorado state university and author comparing asian politics and women in third world development provides a vivid portrayal of the lives and aspirations of women handicraft workers in india and reveals how fair trade relations can strengthen individual and collective capabilities ùlaura t raynolds co director center for fair alternative trade and professor sociology department colorado state university an inspirational case study of a fair trade textile group in mumbai set in the context of the broader ethical certification movement quantitative and qualitative studies of the artisans lives emphasizes the impact that collaborative production and direct market access has on these remarkable women ùcharlotte opal co author fair trade market driven ethical consumption and standards committee fairtrade labelling organizations flo presents a thorough thoughtful and compelling assessment of the impacts of fair trade practices on the artisans who form its base hopefully it will bring increased support for cultural industries and decent work for the creative and skilled artisans of the world ùjudy prater project director kala raksha vidhyalaya after agriculture and tourism artisan work provides the next most significant source of income in many developing countries yet because of its image of a soft or frivolous industry some politicians and development professionals question whether the handcraft sector is worthy of investment an opposing view holds that the creation of sustainable employment opportunities for poor people and a positive alternative to mass production outweighs the costs until now the debate has been hampered by a lack of industry data the apparel group marketplace handwork of india serves as the perfect case study to provide this missing information like many fair trade companies it has dual goals to generate income in the global marketplace and foster the empowerment of the low income workers who staff the business in conducting interviews with marketplace s artisans managers and founders littrell and dickson produced an in depth socio economic audit of the group over time the result artisans and fair trade provides a quantitatively and qualitatively illuminating study of fair trade impacts and a methodology that is sure to inform current assessment practices in social entrepreneurship and business social responsibility

International Craft Trade Fairs 2001 the central message of this book is that state trade offices have the potential to be the nexus of a comprehensive statewide trade development system it outlines the principles that should guide efforts to design such a system and provides examples of efforts to carry out one or more of these principles it provides state and regional policymakers and practitioners with the tools necessary to rethink their trade assistance services and to create an integrated network that can help businesses communities and regions compete internationally a rural economic policy program book

The International State 1996 this book explores how trade and investment agreements can be used to promote sustainable development including examples of innovative measures which have been adopted by states in regional and bilateral agreements it looks at how international trade and investment law can contribute to achieving the un sustainable development goals

Crafting Trade and Investment Accords for Sustainable Development 2021 fair trade is intended to help producers in developing countries achieve better working and trading conditions while maintaining certain environmental standards this is achieved through arrangements with distributors around the world with the influx of fair trade goods on grocery store shelves and restaurant menus one would assume an overall positive trend in trade conditions is occurring however numerous concerns continue to surround fair trade as readers will learn they will consider whether it benefits all developing countries and markets equally and analyze the extent to which it is effective at protecting the environment they will develop intelligent opinions on which conditions will make trade as fair as possible

Fair Trade 2019-12-15 this book responds to the need to explore the multitude of interconnected factors causing displacements that compel people to move within their homelands or traverse various borders in the contemporary world that is characterised by extensive and rapid movements of people it addresses this need by bringing together historical and contemporary accounts and critical examinations of the displaced by articulating the commonalities in their lived experiences it accomplishes the task of charting a new path in displacement studies by offering a number of studies from interdisciplinary and diverse methodological approaches comprising ethnographic and qualitative research and literary interpretations to emphasise that although the forms and conditions of mobility are highly divergent individual experiences of displacement and placelessness offer a critical challenge to the artificial categorisations of people's movements each chapter adds insights into the different configurations of displacement and placement and offers fresh interpretations of migration and dislocation in today's rapidly changing world the contributors critically examine a variety of displacement processes and experiences in the context of war tourism neoliberal policies of development and the impact of various agro forestry policies they focus on a range of countries enabling a thorough comparative analysis in terms of scope and range of examples and methods of analysis this book makes an original contribution to the growing body of literature on displacement and will appeal to a wide readership including advanced undergraduates and graduate students and professors in disciplines such as human geography development studies sociology and anthropology regional studies and comparative impact assessment

Crafting a Global Trade Strategy: the U.S. and the WTO 2023-09-22 a wide range of issues besieges women globally including economic exploitation sexist oppression racial ethnic and caste oppression and cultural imperialism this book builds a feminist social justice framework from practices of women's activism in india to understand and work to overcome these injustices the feminist social justice framework provides an alternative to mainstream philosophical frameworks that promote global gender justice for example universal human rights economic projects such as microfinance and cosmopolitanism mclaren demonstrates that these frameworks are bound by a commitment to individualism and an abstract sense of universalism that belies their root neo liberalism arguing that these frameworks emphasize individualism over interdependence similarity over diversity and individual success over collective capacity mclaren draws on the work of rabindranath tagore to develop the concept of relational cosmopolitanism relational cosmopolitanism prioritizes our connections while crucially acknowledging the reality of power differences extending iris young's theory of political responsibility mclaren shows how fair trade connects to the economic solidarity movement the self employed women's association and marketplace india empower women through access to livelihoods as well as fostering leadership capabilities that allow them to challenge structural injustice through political and social activism their struggles to resist economic exploitation and gender oppression through collective action show the vital importance of challenging individualist approaches to achieving gender justice the book is a rallying call for a shift in our thinking and practice towards re imagining the possibilities for justice from a relational framework from independence to interdependence from identity to intersectionality and from interest to socio political imagination

Sustainable and Dynamic Graduate Employability 2019 rural crafts represent a necessary component of agriculture in which rural women play a key role international experience demonstrates that rural crafts can make a significant contribution to the household economy and to the export potential countries fao and cacaari document with this study a value chain analysis of some rural crafts in uzbekistan with the purpose of exploring and developing marketing strategies increasing income in the rural population enhancing gender equality and developing partnerships the study focuses on a gender sensitive value chain analysis of the basket weaving sector and handicraft products made from goat wool in uzbekistan

Women's Activism, Feminism, and Social Justice 2019-06-01 this book provides an up to date account of the many processes shaping and transforming rural space in various parts of the world the various case studies focus on the multi functionality of the rural world and the driving forces behind it the book demonstrates that rural areas are no longer simply characterized by an agricultural economy and instead accommodate multiple complementary activities it also touches upon two major changes that have taken place the first is the process of rurbanization which has led to the clear distinction between town and countryside becoming blurred urban traits have penetrated rural areas and rural traits have invaded towns the second change is that rural areas are increasingly seen as multi functional providers not only of food and other natural resources but also locations for the generation of renewable energy wind farms solar farms biogas and regions for the preservation of biodiversity these transformations have resulted in a new understanding and self image of rural areas and their populations

Assessment of the possibilities for income diversification through rural crafts development 2004 this book takes a fresh look at this issue in economic policy graham dunkley provides a critical history of international trade and an alternative analysis to orthodox doctrines about trade policy he argues that trade although a natural economic process has today become much more complex deregulated and divorced from development than is desirable he concludes by suggesting elements of a new approach to development and an alternative world trading and economic order
