excerpt from report upon the condition of crops december 1 1878 the october returns showing comparative product did not materially change the aspects of the wheat crop as foreshadowed in our previous monthly reports of condition the december returns of yield per acre confirm and somewhat enlarge our previous estimates the crop of 1878 was beyond doubt the largest ever raised in this country on the atlantic slope above delaware bay the crop was full average in quality and considerably larger than in 1877 about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic crops september 1 1878 professor riley while taking the oversight of the whole field has directed special attention to the more southern portions he notes an unusually late appearance of the worm in the southwest where it did not show itself in any force till the middle of august and then only within narrow limits some observers in south texas put the loss occasioned by the insect at a third of the crop but experience has taught a distrust in local estimates of this character which are often unduly influenced by panic a still greater loss is stated in some districts of alabama leading to extravagant local estimates of general loss about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks com this book is a reproduction of
