the world with her rather than directing our attention towards herself the result is a rich and generous book george thomas deputy editor quadrant october 2013 blood other essentials is a collection that will confirm the range and versatility of jr mcrae's poetry in themselves those are attributes that are reasonably attainable to do so with a singular depth to each poem's continually and varied subject however is another matter in the poems of blood mcrae does succeed in doing so the insight of the true observer craft of the exact writer empathy of the fellow human are all brought together as they should be for together they are what goes towards making the true poet with her poems mcrae both stands back and becomes intimately involved whatever their individual subjects she has written her poems with both the detached eye and the wish to become part blood is an eclectic mix of poems that are catholic in subject form and imagery

Transparent Strangers 2012

this book explores poetry and pedagogy in practice across the lifespan poetry is directly linked to improved literacy creativity personal development emotional intelligence complex analytical thinking and social interaction all skills that are crucial in contemporary educational systems however a narrow focus on stem subjects at the expense of the humanities has led educators to deprioritize poetry and to overlook its interdisciplinary multi modal potential the editors and contributors argue that poetry is not a luxury but a way to stimulate linguistic experiences that are formally rich and cognitively challenging to learn through poetry is not just to access information differently but also to forge new and different connections that can serve as reflective tools for lifelong learning this interdisciplinary book will be of value to teachers and students of poetry as well as scholars interested in literacy across the disciplines

Here's a Little Poem 2010

what inspires us what is the source of our joy peace wisdom and happiness no matter who we are where we are from our religious beliefs or how we identify ourselves there is one thing that unites us our belief and relationship in a higher power what we call this power is as varied as we are whether it is god jehovah allah yahweh and the like it is our need for a spiritual foundation that connects us like a finely woven thread in an elaborate tapestry we are united purely on that basis creating a beautiful image of a kind of solidarity if we take the time to recognize it in this intimate collection of poems you will see this in action as poets from all walks of life hailing from both the near and the far have allowed us to peek inside the deepest parts of themselves with beautiful prose and rhyme you will enjoy both the diversity of expression and the connection of our love of the divine that sustains us all

Missing You: A Collection of Short Poems 2016-06-30

these poems are inspired by fantasy nature mythology love and heartbreak if poetry is the language of the soul it's also the non literal use of words to convey emotional meaning it is about feelings rather than clearly fixed ideas there's beauty here as well as darkness the raven watching with a baleful eye a black scavenger sentinel of the sky looking for a weakness looking for a chance looking for an error young lovers caught up in the dance with a shriek and a pounce he seizes on his prey and another newborn baby is safely stole away lurking in the darkness clutching a branch so cold raven has the desperation of youth and the sour wisdom of the old in spite of all the raucous noise in the end he is alone and when i look out through his eyes i can see why he is so bold for the world is a big and empty place and the nights get very cold

Selah River 2020-03

this is the first season of poetry and photographs exclusively created by robin langston most of the poems in this collection are an exploration into the dark reaches of the mind and heart so that one may ponder the highs and lows of life to better appreciate the blessings they might receive we cannot truly know and understand the light until we have at least peered into the darkness and until we have overcome the darkness that lives within each of our own souls can you appreciate the blessings in your life without understanding what it is like to stumble within the dark have compassion for those around you who are going through dark times and who are stumbling in their own darkness

Euphoria 1996

from an acclaimed anthologist comes this unforgettable collection of one hundred poems by teenagers capturing the vertigo inducing realm of romantic love the poets are straight gay lesbian bi or transgender they live next door or across an ocean they are innocent or experienced their lyric explorations range from new love to stale love obsession to ennui ecstasy to heartbreak and every nuance in between whether the romantic escapades described are touching comical or tragic whether the feelings expressed are tender and sweet or brutal and biting readers will find the love these young poets openly share to be exquisitely excruciatingly endlessly fascinating here is a collection to turn to again and again because life and love keep on changing

~~is a descriptive narrative of this journey of a voyage to the paradoxical space of an~~<sup>solnit</sup> intimate autonomy even though the hiss of hope is about living with a chronic disease the book does not dwell on a life of suffering and desperation but rather it also depicts the adventure leading to places to encounters and to depths of experience that would not have been possible without first having been ambushed by parkinson s today s zeitgeist seems to be pregnant with dark and fearful hints of impending disasters this book suggests an intimate autonomy as a culturally integrable relating pattern to cope with life in the first half of the 21st century and with death with a grateful nod to parkinson s disease and its initial rupture of her life the author concludes her book with a generous smile the sparkle of the before space links to the calm radiance of the after and the sibilant hiss reveals itself as a dynamic third between hope and no hope a concurrent unity of an intimate togetherness and an autonomous separateness a beginning asserts itself at the end parkinson s reacts with a wise and iconic grin
