to preserve these books and make them available to the public so that they do not get lost in pious memories douglas brine examines the context function and meaning of early netherlandish memorials in the form of sculptures paintings and brasses and the role they played in commemorating the dead in the low countries during the fifteenth century this original look at the french reformation pits immovable object the french appellate courts or parlements against irresistible force the most dynamic forms of the protestant reformation without the slightest hesitation the high courts of renaissance france opposed these religious innovators by 1540 the french monarchy had largely removed the prosecution of heresy from ecclesiastical courts and handed it to the parlements heresy trials and executions escalated dramatically but within twenty years the irresistible force had overcome the immovable object the prosecution of protestant heresy by then unworkable was abandoned by french appellate courts until now no one has investigated systematically the judicial history of the french reformation william monter has examined the myriad encounters between protestants and judges in french parlements extracting information from abundant but unindexed registers of official criminal decisions both in paris and in provincial capitals and identifying more than 425 prisoners condemned to death for heresy by french courts between 1523 and 1560 he notes the ways in which protestants resisted the french judicial system even before the religious wars and sets their story within the context of heresy prosecutions elsewhere in reformation europe and within the long term history of french criminal justice focusing on early renaissance franco ottoman relations this book fills a gap in studies of ottoman representations by early modern european powers by addressing the franco ottoman bond in french encounters with the ottomans pascale barthe examines the birth of the franco ottoman rapprochement and the enthusiasm with which before the age of absolutism french kings and their subjects pursued exchanges real or imagined with those they referred to as the turks barthe calls into question the existence of an orientalist discourse in the renaissance and examines early cross cultural relations through the lenses of sixteenth century french literary and cultural production informed by insights from historians literary scholars and art historians from around the world this study underscores and challenges long standing dichotomies christians vs muslims west vs east as well as reductive periodizations middle ages vs renaissance and compartmentalization of disciplines grounded in close readings it includes discussions of cultural production specifically visual representations of space and customs barthe showcases diplomatic envoys courtly poets bourgeois prominent fiction writers and chroniclers who all engaged eagerly with the turks and developed a multiplicity of responses to the ottomans before the latter became both fashionable and neutralized and their representation fixed talk about unlucky sevens an hour ago seventeen year old seven months pregnant novalee nation was heading for california with her boyfriend now she finds herself stranded at a wal mart in sequoyah oklahoma with just 7 77 in change but novalee is about to discover hidden treasures in this small southwest town a group of down to earth deeply caring people willing to help a homeless jobless girl living secretly in a wal mart from bible thumping blue haired sister thelma husband to eccentric librarian forney hull who loves novalee more than she loves herself they are about to take her and you too on a moving funny and unforgettable journey to where the heart is exploring the effects of war on state power in early modern europe this book asks if military competition increased rulers power over their subjects and forged more modern states or if the strains of war broke down political and administrative systems comparing england and the netherlands in the age of warrior princes such as henry viii and charles v it examines the development of new military and fiscal institutions and asks how mobilization for war changed political relationships throughout society towns in england such as norwich york exeter and rye are compared with towns in the netherlands such as antwerp leiden s hertogenbosch and valenciennes to see how the magistrates relations with central government and the urban populace were modified by war great noblemen from the howard and percy families are set alongside their equivalents from the houses of cro and egmond to examine the role of recruitment army command and heroic reputation in maintaining noble power the wider interactions of subjects and rulers in wartime are reviewed to measure how effectively war extended princes claims on their subjects loyalty and service their ambitions to control news and opinion and to promote national identity and their ability to manage the economy and harness religious change to dynastic purposes the result is a compelling but nuanced picture of societies and polities tested and shaped by the pressures of ever more demanding warfare volume 1 1862 has been split into two for this reissue this second half covers may 1513 to december 1514 seduction was a game marcelline noirot has one thing on her mind when she meets the duke of clevedon it s not his heartbreaking good looks nor his smouldering charm she s after his wallet and his bride to be a stunning new full length biography of queen catherine of aragon henry viii s wife of over twenty years the first ever written by a female historian and to concentrate on catherine as a tudor woman rather than a pawn of in the dynastic power plays of men
