this timely volume discusses the much debated and controversial subject of the presence of religion in the public sphere the book is divided in three sections in the first the public private distinction is studied mainly from a theoretical point of view through the contributions of lawyers philosophers and sociologists in the following sections their proposals are tested through the analysis of two case studies religious dress codes and places of worship these sections include discussions on some of the most controversial recent cases from around europe with contributions from some of the leading experts in the area of law and religion covering a range of very different european countries including turkey the uk italy and bulgaria the book uses comparative case studies to illustrate how practice varies significantly even within europe it reveals how familiarization with religious and philosophical diversity in europe should lead to the modification of legal frameworks historically designed to accommodate majority religions this in turn should give rise to recognition of new groups and communities and eventually a more adequate response to the plurality of religions and beliefs in european society

the contributions brought together in this book derive from joint seminars held by scholars between colleagues from the university of oxford and the university of paris ii their starting point is the original divergence between the two jurisdictions with the initial rejection of the public private divide in english law but on the other hand its total acceptance as natural in french law then they go on to demonstrate that the two systems have converged the british one towards a certain degree of acceptance of the division the french one towards a growing questioning of it however this is not the only part of the story since both visions are now commonly coloured and affected by european law and by globalisation which introduces new tensions into our legal understanding of what is public and what is private this book addresses potential avenues of criminal liability for public health crisis management in the context of the covid 19 pandemic under national and international criminal law especially for causing death and bodily harm the national case studies are geographically representative and follow a common research grid each national case study is prefaced by an overview of the detection and subsequent spread of the pandemic in the country concerned the relevant legal and constitutional frameworks that governed the government and corporate conduct in the face of the pandemic are also discussed followed by the consideration of forms of criminal liability government responses to the covid 19 pandemic differed vastly in terms of both the choice of strategies adopted herd immunity test and trace lockdown etc and the quality and speed of government implementation of those strategies and associated interventions both factors impacted the number of infections and casualties it is therefore appropriate to consider forms of criminal liability for failure of individual members of government including specific public authorities to act to the best of their abilities as timely as possible and in accordance with expert advice
