this book originated in the donatio universitatis carolinae award and research support that professor petr pokorný received in 2017 it was envisioned designed and originally conducted as a project exploring the biblical roots of christian culture experts in various theological and philosophical disciplines both from the czech republic and abroad were to probe this topic from their particular perspectives the hoped for output was to be a coherent collective study of the proposed topic however due to the unexpected passing away of prof pokorný in early 2020 the project could not be executed according to the original plan rather than a collective monograph therefore the present book is a collection of essays that investigate various aspects of the bible and christianity in their relation to culture as a broad human phenomenon the book is divided into two sections while the first section focuses on particular issues in the bible the second addresses historical philosophical and cultural developments as petr pokorný was actively and importantly involved in the initial stages of the project two essays are written by him personally the whole book then is dedicated in his honor

a folk taxonomy is a semantic field that represents the particular way in which a language imposes structure and order upon the myriad impressions of human experience and perception thus for example the experience of color in modern english is structured around an inventory of twelve basic color terms but languages vary in the number of basic color terms used from thirteen or fourteen terms to as few as two or three anthropological linguists have been interested in the comparative study of folk taxonomies across contemporary languages and in their studies they have sometimes proposed evolutionary models for the development and elaboration of these taxonomies the evolutionary models have implications for historical linguistics but there have been very few studies of the historical development of a folk taxonomy within a language or within a language family folk taxonomies in early english undertakes this task for english and to some extent for the germanic and indo european language families the semantic fields studied are basic color terms seasons of the year geometric shapes the five senses the folk psychology of mind and soul and basic plant and animal life forms anderson s emphasis is on folk taxonomies in old and middle english and also on the implications of semantic analysis for our reading of early english literary texts
