national role conceptions in a new millennium examines the transformation of the international system through an examination of the role conceptions adopted by the different global actors advancing current role theory scholarship in international relations the contributors take as their starting point the question of how international actors are responding to the reordering of the global system they reflect on the rise of new actors and the reemergence of old rivalries the decline of established norms and the unleashing of internal political forces such as nationalism and parochialism they argue that changes in the international system can impact how states define their roles and act as a variable in both domestic and international role contestations further they examine the redefinition of roles of countries and the international organizations that have been central to the us and western dominated world order including major powers in the world the us russia china britain etc as well as the european union nato and asean by looking at international organizations this text moves beyond the traditional subjects of role theory in the study of international relations to examine how roles are contested in non state actors national role conceptions in a new millennium is the first attempt to delve into the individual motivations of states to seek role transition as such it is ideal for those teaching and studying both theory and method in international relations and foreign policy analysis first published in 1976 this routledge revivals reissue presents an analysis of the swat pathans the people of the north west frontier province of pakistan who belong administratively to pakistan despite being a fiercely independent group with their own codes and ways of life akbar s ahmed who knows the swat pathans well through his family connections presents a clear and sophisticated analysis of their complex society the study provides an anthropological and critical re examination of the ethnography of the swat pathans and the author suggests specific alternative models of social organization the book also represents an important contribution to the general debate in the social sciences between the â€ methodological individualistsâ€™ and the â€ methodological holistsâ€™ and challenges some of the theoretical and methodological premises in anthropology in particular the author is critical of professor fredrik barthâ€™s study of swat pathans for he believes that the â€ swat modelsâ€™ have inadvertently become the basis for generalized and often incorrect understanding of models of pathan socio political organization in the social sciences
