this book collects contributions which showcase the impact of new augmented reality ar and artificial intelligence ai technologies considered jointly in the fields of cultural heritage and innovative design ar is an alternative path of analysis and communication if applied to several fields of research in particular if related to space and artifacts in it this happens because the neural network development strengthens the relationship between augmented reality and artificial intelligence creating processes close to human thought in shorter times in the last years the ar ai expansion and the future scenarios have raised a deep trans disciplinary speculation the disciplines of representation drawing surveying visual communication as a convergence place of multidisciplinary theoretical and applicative studies related to architecture city environment tangible and intangible cultural heritage are called to contribute to the international debate the book chapters deal with augmented reality and artificial intelligence analyzing their connections as research tools for knowing the environment in particular the topics focus on the intersection between real and virtual world and on the heuristic role of drawing in the enhancement and management of cultural heritage in planning and monitoring the architecture the environment or the infrastructures scientists involved in ar and ai research applied separately or together in the field of cultural heritage architectural design urban planning and infrastructures analysis as well as members of public and private organizations make up interdisciplinary groups that fuel the discussion focusing on the priorities and aims of the research related to the disciplines of representation

Urban Parks Between Safety and Aesthetics 2011

the question of how to live in the city and increase the quality of urban life creates new challenges for both urban policies and academic research urban parks are important keys for achieving a broader understanding of the urban landscape open green spaces in every form are essential for life in our ever more urbanised society and are becoming a vital issue for the liveability of the urban environment the purpose of the present research is to acquire a more thorough knowledge of the evaluation of urban parks the study uses statistical analysis methods combined with landscape planning and visualisation methods the research provides an innovative and sophisticated point of view along with the means to improve the comprehension of people s preferences for alternative urban park scenarios the results are expected to create an advanced discussion platform and make a contribution towards improving knowledge of the public s perception of urban parks the investigation was conducted with empirical experiments on two parks in zurich the functional component of the research is the visualisation of spatial data using powerful visualisation tools the theoretical prospect is the achievement of broader knowledge about individuals perception of open green spaces focusing on previously unexplored experimental research combining conjoint analysis and visualisation methods the experiments created for the research are effective for modelling and explaining the significance that people assign to specific dimensions characterising different park scenarios two motivations are at the base of the research exploring the use of conjoint analysis methods to study virtual urban parks and evaluating the use of visual stimuli with conjoint analysis the messages of our electronic age are becoming increasingly metaphorical and less assertive this metaphorization process affects every aspect of society today as can be seen in design and although more resistant to change in the sphere of architecture a building does not acquire value just because it works is solid spatially stimulating and liveable but because it refers to something else the process of metaphorization concerns most of today s architecture its basic objective is a new interiorization of the landscape and the relations between man and nature an objective which has been accomplished or nearly in order to make further progress and gain computers have become omnipresent in recent decades affecting all aspects of modern life and influencing creative pursuits in art architecture music and film one consequence of this seemingly irreversible trend is its effect on the perception of the aesthetic object and indeed of nature itself dawn of a new feeling acknowledges that computers have become a formidable tool for creating new and entertaining art forms while contending that virtual reality is not conducive to meditations on the aesthetic object virtual or augmented reality raffaele milani argues is illusory and blunts the viewer s capacity for feeling a genuine connection with a work of art first describing how modernity and post modernity are entangled with virtual reality engendering linguistic and anthropological confusion in which art seems to have lost its meaning milani then contrasts these developments with classical art forms and reflects on the ways in which traditional art objects stimulate an appreciation of nature which upon contemplation appears as an aesthetic object itself the saturation of our culture by mass media he argues can give rise to a renewed desire to experience a more intimate communication with nature by identifying reading contemplation and care for nature as activities that help us to escape the mental atrophy of a web dominated world and find refuge from the chaos of virtual mediation dawn of a new feeling offers a reinterpretation of contemplative approaches to appreciating aesthetics and to understanding the profound nature of artistic vision
