society even a pious nun donned a mask and male attire for her liaison with the libertine casanova in venice incognito james h johnson offers a spirited analysis of masking in this carnival loving city he draws on a wealth of material to explore the world view of maskers both during and outside of carnival and reconstructs their logic covering the face in public was a uniquely venetian response to one of the most rigid class hierarchies in european history this vivid account goes beyond common views that masking was about forgetting the past and minding the muse of pleasure to offer fresh insight into the historical construction of identity this book is the result of a research project designed and carried out at the department of architecture university of florence this research was based on the transfer of knowledge from members of the albanian diaspora in italy university students young architects and researchers to their home country this unique process blazed a trail in the albania related studies by creating a methodology which could be replicated not only in albanian rural contexts but also elsewhere the book constitutes a structured tool for generating sustainable and socially inclusive territorial development processes in five lesser known albanian cultural sites their tangible and intangible cultural heritage was seen as a driving factor for triggering development processes aimed at improving the inhabitants quality of life and strengthening local identity and social networks through concrete proposals and strategies the book offers scenarios and solutions capable of enhancing the potential of each village and at the same time counteracting the effects of land abandonment that so often characterise them in jerusalem israeli and jordanian militias patrolled a fortified impassable green line from 1948 until 1967 in nicosia two walls and a buffer zone have segregated turkish and greek cypriots since 1963 in belfast peaceline barricades have separated working class catholics and protestants since 1969 in beirut civil war from 1974 until 1990 turned a cosmopolitan city into a lethal patchwork of ethnic enclaves in mostar the croatian and bosniak communities have occupied two autonomous sectors since 1993 these cities were not destined for partition by their social or political histories they were partitioned by politicians citizens and engineers according to limited information short range plans and often dubious motives how did it happen how can it be avoided divided cities explores the logic of violent urban partition along ethnic lines when it occurs who supports it what it costs and why seemingly healthy cities succumb to it planning and conservation experts jon calame and esther charlesworth offer a warning beacon to a growing class of cities torn apart by ethnic rivals field based investigations in beirut belfast jerusalem mostar and nicosia are coupled with scholarly research to illuminate the history of urban dividing lines the social impacts of physical partition and the assorted professional responses to self imposed apartheid through interviews with people on both sides of a divide residents politicians taxi drivers built environment professionals cultural critics and journalists they compare the evolution of each urban partition along with its social impacts the patterns that emerge support an assertion that division is a gradual predictable and avoidable occurrence that ultimately impedes intercommunal cooperation with the voices of divided city residents updated partition maps
