watson visits his friend holmes at christmas time and finds him contemplating a battered old hat brought to him by the commissioner peterson after the hat and a christmas goose had been dropped by a man in a scuffle with some street ruffians peterson takes the goose home to eat but later returns to holmes with a blue carbuncle his wife had found in the bird s crop throat holmes makes some interesting deductions concerning the owner of the hat from simple observations of its condition conclusions amply confirmed when an advertisement for the owner produces the man himself henry baker holmes cannot resist such an intriguing mystery and he and watson set out across the city to determine exactly how the jewel stolen from the countess of morcar during her stay at a hotel wound up in a goose s crop the man who dropped the goose mr henry baker comes to reclaim his hat in response to holmes advertisement holmes drops hints about how he saved the innards of the goose but baker fails to respond to them simply saying that he is afraid goose remains are not much use he does however give holmes valuable information eventually leading him to the conclusive stage of his investigation at covent garden holmes offers a fresh goose to henry baker who responds with gladness and departs whereupon holmes tells watson that baker is eliminated from the suspect list as he obviously knows nothing about the carbuncle at covent garden a salesman named breckinridge gets angry with holmes complaining about all the people who have pestered him about geese sold recently to the landlord of the alpha inn clearly someone else knows that the carbuncle was in a goose and is looking for the bird it was pleasant to dr watson to find himself once more in the untidy room of the first floor in baker street which had been the starting point of so many remarkable adventures he looked round him at the scientific charts upon the wall the acid charred bench of chemicals the violin case leaning in the corner the coal scuttle which contained of old the pipes and tobacco finally his eyes came round to the fresh and smiling face of billy the young but very wise and tactful page who had helped a little to fill up the gap of loneliness and isolation which surrounded the saturnine figure of the great detective
