design strategies for reimagining the city is situated between projective geometry optical science and architectural design it draws together seemingly unrelated fields in a series of new digital design tools and techniques underpinned by tested prototypes the book reveals how the relationship between architectural design and the ubiquitous urban camera can be used to question established structures of control and ownership inherent within the visual model of the western canon using key moments from the broad trajectory of historical and contemporary representational mechanisms and techniques it describes the image s impact on city form from the inception of linear perspective geometry to the digital turn the discussion draws upon combined fields of digital geometry the pictorial adaptation of human optical cues of colour brightness and shape and modern image capture technology webcams mobile phones and uavs to demonstrate how the permeation of contemporary urban space by digital networks calls for new architectural design tools and techniques a series of speculative drawings and architectural interventions that apply the new design tools and techniques complete the book aimed at researchers academics and upper level students in digital design and theory it makes a timely contribution to the ongoing and broadly debated relationship between representation and architecture understanding and being able to predict fluvial processes is one of the biggest challenges for hydraulics and environmental engineers hydrologists and other scientists interested in preserving and restoring the diverse functions of rivers the interactions among flow turbulence vegetation macroinvertebrates and other organisms as well as the transport and retention of particulate matter have important consequences on the ecological health of rivers managing rivers in an ecologically friendly way is a major component of sustainable engineering design maintenance and restoration of ecological habitats to address these challenges a major focus of river flow 2016 was to highlight the latest advances in experimental computational and theoretical approaches that can be used to deepen our understanding and capacity to predict flow and the associated fluid driven ecological processes anthropogenic influences sediment transport and morphodynamic processes river flow 2016 was organized under the auspices of the committee for fluvial hydraulics of the international association for hydro environment engineering and research iahr since its first edition in 2002 the river flow conference series has become the main international event focusing on river hydrodynamics sediment transport river engineering and restoration some of the highlights of the 8th international conference on fluvial hydraulics were to focus on inter disciplinary research involving among others ecological and biological aspects relevant to river flows and processes and to emphasize broader themes dealing with river sustainability river flow 2016 extended abstract book 854 pages full paper cd rom 2436 pages contains the contributions presented during the regular sessions covering the main conference themes and the special sessions focusing on specific hot topics of river flow research and will be of interest to academics interested in hydraulics hydrology and environmental engineering
