starting out or even let s be honest fifteen years in sarah knight new york times bestselling author of the life changing magic of not giving a f ck a witty practical guide to navigating 200 difficult professional conversations ten years as a workplace advice columnist has taught alison green that people avoid awkward conversations in the office because they don t know what to say thankfully alison does in this incredibly helpful book she takes on the tough discussions you may need to have during your career you ll learn what to say when colleagues push their work on you then take credit for it you accidentally trash talk someone in an email and hit reply all you re being micromanaged or not being managed at all your boss seems unhappy with your work you got too drunk at the christmas party with sharp sage advice and candid letters from real life readers ask a manager will help you successfully navigate the stormy seas of office life after the death of two dear military friends i decided that their stories and mine needed to be told as these stories disappear when we depart the earth all these stories have one thing in common the story tellers made it through their experiences and lived to tell their tales these stories are from members of the army navy marines air force coast guard and some foreign sources many are first hand accounts some by family members and some from gatherings of veterans these stories are told by veterans from the american civil war to current conflicts some are lighthearted some are told after many tears over many years and others are almost unbelievable all stories are told to share real life experiences and to give the reader an up close and personal view of how it really was a new and enlarged edition with an introduction and notes for the previous edition see first series 19 1854 the additional material includes an account by edmund scott of events at bantam 1603 05 and his description of java this is a new print on demand hardback edition of the volume first published in 1943 the writing of letters often evokes associations of a single author and a single addressee who share in the exchange of intimate thoughts across distances of space and time this model underwrites such iconic notions as the letter representing an image of the soul of the author or constituting one half of a dialogue however justified this conception of letter writing may be in particular instances it tends to marginalize a range of issues that were central to epistolary communication in the ancient world and have yet to receive sustained and systematic investigation in particular it overlooks the fact that letters frequently presuppose and were designed to reinforce communities or indeed to constitute them in the first place this volume explores the interrelation of letters and communities in the ancient world examining how epistolary communication aided in the construction and cultivation of group identities and communities whether social political religious ethnic or philosophical a theoretically informed introduction establishes the interface of epistolary discourse and group formation as a vital but hitherto neglected area of research and is followed by thirteen case studies offering multi disciplinary perspectives from four key cultural configurations greece rome judaism and christianity the first part opens the volume with two chapters on the theory and practice of epistolary communication that focus on ancient epistolary theory and the unavoidable presence of a letter carrier who introduces a communal aspect into any correspondence while the second comprises five chapters that explore configurations of power and epistolary communication in the greek and roman worlds from the archaic period to the end of the hellenistic age five chapters on letters and communities in ancient judaism and early christianity follow in the third part before the volume concludes with an envoi examining the trans historical or indeed timeless philosophical community seneca the younger construes in his letters to lucilius the letters of lady anne bacon mother of francis bacon which shed light on elizabethan politics from a female perspective in the second jewish revolt the bar kokhba war 132 136 c e menahem mor offers a detailed account on the bar kokhba revolt in an attempt to understand the second revolt against the romans at 2 a m on the morning of her fortieth birthday sophie wakes to find an intruder in her bedroom the stranger hands sophie a letter and issues an threat open the letter at her party that evening in front of family and friends at exactly 8 p m or those she loves will be in grave danger what can the letter possibly contain this will be no ordinary party sophie is not the only person keeping a secret about the evening ahead when the clock strikes eight the course of several people s lives will be altered for ever now updated with an exclusive first chapter from lucy dawson s next thriller everything you told me takeovers a strategic guide to mergers and acquisitions this 240 page workbook is a highly effective no nonsense self marketing instrument to facilitate and manage the entire job search campaign contained in its pages are all the tools and information necessary to help your terminated employee win and keep their next job whether or not you provide outplacement support to your separated employees our workbook would be an excellent tool to augment their job search it provides a complete resource to help the discharged worker achieve and keep their next position finding a job is hard work it has been estimated that as many as one out of every three workers attempts to change jobs annually in the united states out of a labor force of 153 million that represents almost 50 000 000 job seekers who are seeking new employment each year as a result the job search process is highly competitive at all levels it can be lengthy frustrating prejudicial and unfair older more traditional job finding techniques have become less productive the traditional resume no longer has the same impact in generating the all important and often elusive interview both the wall street journal and usa today have highlighted the fact that only about 15 of all professionals find a new position through responding to published advertisements or online postings another 10 through placement agencies or search firms and only 5 through unsolicited direct mail why then would anyone focus 90 of their time and effort in areas that represent only about 30 of all potential opportunities it is not uncommon for 200 300 people to respond to help wanted advertisements yet seldom do more than 6 to 10 people achieve interviews and after an often lengthy process only one person gets the job everyone else starts the whole process again older americans women and minorities can often face an even more difficult road due to unspoken but ever present biases there is a better way tomorrow is today dispels the myth that the most qualified candidate always gets the job it points out that the person who is hired is usually the one who is liked the best this book can be a major factor in how you differentiate yourself from other candidates when the hiring decision is almost always based upon subjective factors such as the individual s personality style body language and manner of being interviewed it is an invaluable resource in helping you to achieve your next position with added features that

Ask a Manager 1878 the writing of letters often evokes associations of a single author and a single addressee who share in the exchange of intimate thoughts across distances of space and time this model underwrites such iconic notions as the letter representing an image of the soul of the author or constituting one half of a dialogue however justified this conception of letter writing may be in particular instances it tends to marginalize a range of issues that were central to epistolary communication in the ancient world and have yet to receive sustained and systematic investigation in particular it overlooks the fact that letters frequently presuppose and were designed to reinforce communities or indeed to constitute them in the first place this volume explores the interrelation of letters and communities in the ancient world examining how epistolary communication aided in the construction and cultivation of group identities and communities whether social political religious ethnic or philosophical a theoretically informed introduction establishes the interface of epistolary discourse and group formation as a vital but hitherto neglected area of research and is followed by thirteen case studies offering multi disciplinary perspectives from four key cultural configurations greece rome judaism and christianity the first part opens the volume with two chapters on the theory and practice of epistolary communication that focus on ancient epistolary theory and the unavoidable presence of a letter carrier who introduces a communal aspect into any correspondence while the second comprises five chapters that explore configurations of power and epistolary communication in the greek and roman worlds from the archaic period to the end of the hellenistic age five chapters on letters and communities in ancient judaism and early christianity follow in the third part before the volume concludes with an envoi examining the trans historical or indeed timeless philosophical community seneca the younger construes in his letters to lucilius
