A Student Grammar of Modern Standard Arabic 2004 publisher description

2006 قواعد العربية الفصحى المعاصرة in a compact easy to use format modern standard arabic grammar offers a convenient guide to grammar for any student of modern standard arabic msa the version of arabic mostly commonly used in journalism formal writing and literature drawing on over a decade of experience as a full time teacher of arabic azza hassanein explains the rules in straightforward english illustrating usage with examples throughout the book covers all the rules of grammar and morphology that students require for elementary intermediate and advanced levels of arabic as a compact guide it is an ideal auxiliary no matter what textbook the student is using while students of the language will find modern standard arabic grammar extremely helpful

it is also a valuable tool for linguists who want to acquire a clear idea about the skeletal structure of the language as well as translators who are working with written arabic covering all the important grammatical rules of msa from nisba adjectives and nominal and verbal sentences to more complex constructions such as conditional sentences and the subjunctive this unique handbook fills a real need for the growing number of people worldwide learning arabic

Subject, Theme and Agent in Modern Standard Arabic 2013-10-28 investigates the universal categories subject theme and agent with special reference to their functional status in modern standard arabic msa and how these three distinct functions may or may not coincide in arabic sentences these functions are inexplicitly characterised by classical and modern arab linguists and arabists alike it has been found that the pre viz sentence initial or post verbal noun phrase np in arabic can be assigned the syntactic function subject but may not necessarily assume the semantic function agent that the pre verbal np which may not necessarily be the subject has the pragmatic function theme and that these distinct functions sometimes cluster around a single np in certain sentences depending on genre it has also been found that in msa the order of sentence constituents is relatively free subject to a verb initial preference especially when needed to prevent ambiguity the present study reveals the fact that although coding features such as word order case marking and cross referencing viz agreement may provide a clear indication of which nps are subjects in msa they do not provide a clear cut indication of semantic relations such as agent the subject position in msa is not necessarily the canonical agent position

Modern Arabic Short Stories 2016-08-20 the making of modern finance is a path breaking study of the construction of liberal financial governance and demonstrates how complex forms of control by the state profoundly transformed the nature of modern finance challenging dominant theoretical conceptions of liberal financial governance in international political economy this book argues that liberal economic governance is too often perceived as a passive form of governance it situates the gold standard in relation to practices of monetary governance which preceded it tracing the evolution of monetary governance from the late middle ages to show how the 19th century gold standard transformed the way states relate to finance more specifically knafo demonstrates that the institutions of the gold standard helped to put in place instruments of modern monetary policy that are usually associated with central banking and argues that the gold standard was a prelude to keynesian policies rather than its antithesis the author reveals that these state interventions played a vital role in the rise of modern financial techniques which emerged in the late 18th and 19th century and served as the foundation for contemporary financial systems this book will be of strong interest to students and scholars of international political economy economic history and historical sociology it will appeal to those interested in monetary and financial history the modern state liberal governance and varieties of capitalism The Revolutionary Arab World from a Corpus-Pragmatic Perspective: Tunisia, Egypt and Libya 2013-07-03 this collection of essays developed out of a conference held in hong kong in 1988 the aim was to provide a forum for an exchange of views between academics working within the field of sociolinguistics in particular between those working in the west and those working in the east sociolinguistics today has taken this aim a step further to produce an overview of contemporary research into sociolinguistics worldwide the book contains articles by acknowledged leaders in the study of language and society and the presence of sociolinguists working in asia provides a new and exciting challenge to the hitherto western dominated field the comprehensive study of asian sociolinguistics is unique and engages with the non asian contributions to great effect the range of contributors reinforces the international emphasis of the book

The Syntax of Arabic 1992 this book considers the null subject phenomenon whereby some languages lack an overtly realized referential subject in specific contexts in generative syntax the approach adopted in this volume the phenomenon has traditionally been explained in terms of a pro drop parameter with associated cluster properties more recently however it has become clear that pro drop phenomena do not always correlate with all the initially predicted cluster properties this volume returns to the centre of the debate surrounding the empirical phenomena associated with null subjects experts in the field explore the cluster properties associated with pro drop the types of null category involved in null subject phenomena and their identification and the typology of null subject languages with a special focus on partial null subject languages chapters include both novel empirical data and new theoretical analyses covering the major approaches to null subjects in generative grammar a wide range of languages are examined ranging from the most commonly studied in research into null subjects such as finnish and italian to lesser studied languages such as vietnamese and polish minority languages such as cimbrian and kashubian and historical varieties such as old french and old high german the research presented also contributes to the understanding of other key syntactic phenomena such as the nature of control the role of information structure and semantics in syntax the mechanisms of language change and the formalization of language variation the breadth and depth of the volume will make it a valuable resource not only for generative syntacticians but also for all those working in the fields of historical linguistics typology comparative grammar semantics and theoretical and descriptive linguistics more generally

Status Change of Languages 2016-06-14 this landmark volume offers an introduction to the field of teaching arabic as a foreign or second language recent growth in student numbers and the demand for new and more diverse arabic language programs of instruction have created a need that has outpaced the ability of teacher preparation programs to provide sufficient numbers of well qualified professional teachers at the level of skill required arabic language program administrators anticipate that the increases in enrollment will continue into the next decades more resources and more varied materials are seriously needed in arabic teacher education and training the goal of this handbook is to address that need the most significant feature of this volume is its pioneer role in approaching the field of arabic language teaching from many different perspectives it offers readers the opportunity to consider the role status and content of arabic language teaching in the world today the handbook is intended as a resource to be used in building arabic language and teacher education programs and in guiding future academic research thirty four chapters authored by leaders in the field are organized around nine themes background of arabic language teaching contexts of arabic language teaching communicative competence in arabic the learners assessment technology applications curriculum development design and models arabic language program administration and management and planning for the future of arabic language learning and teaching the handbook for arabic language teaching professionals in the 21st
