Developing an enquiring social work practice / druk 1 / ING 2007 this book addresses the complex phenomenon in higher education of structural reforms in higher education systems across the globe governments initiate comprehensive reforms of their higher education systems because they want their models to be the best and to excel at what they do this regularly requires governments to change the higher education landscape to achieve their set objectives changes can include merger processes the introduction of a new sector of higher education or a new type of higher education institution or excellence initiative this book explores the current understanding of how successful such comprehensive reforms have been through an examination of eleven reform cases in european countries for each reform the different phases of the policy process policy objectives design implementation policy tools and evaluation are systematically described and analysed to provide an overview of the factors that contribute to the success or failure of the reforms

cases these institutions have progressively developed research activities and at least in some countries the state now has recognized the research role of these institutions and provided support and funding moreover in many countries the role of research in polytechnics fachhochschulen hogescholen university colleges etc is on the political agenda despite the importance of the issue there are very few in depth studies of research in the non university sector these studies show that the development of research in these institutions leads to quite complex interactions with universities both in the sense of convergence academic drift and or of differentiation of a specific research mandate oriented towards the regional economy therefore this book aims to fill this gap by first analysing a number of transversal issues related to the research mission of these institutions in its second part it gives an overview of the state of the art in eight european countries does the use of the internet in any way contribute to a student's learning process and if yes precisely what added value does this represent this question and more specifically the attempt to answer it is what lies at the heart of this dissertation which considers the issue from a number of perspectives based on experiences opinions and academic theories this is done through the analysis of a new and innovative educational concept virtual action learning virtual action learning val is an educational concept that was designed to connect with the personal learning environments of people who live in a world where technology and social media play a dominant role in other words a world in which information is processed in an interactive and visual manner within the context of ever-changing situations and processes that demand ever higher levels of individual responsibility the application of val concerns a way of learning that is different from what is common val is based on social constructivist learning theory in combination with an intensive use of ict in the student s learning process this takes place in the virtual learning community vlc an electronic learning environment developed to support the learning process in addition to the educational characteristics of the val concept a managerial perspective can be distinguished that involves the way in which schools and universities organise their processes in order to facilitate learning this process approach born in the nineteen nineties is grounded in a number of business theories the val concept distinguishes three primary processes the learning process for which the student carries responsibility and the processes related to teaching and assessment for which the instructor is held responsible with the help of design principles that are firmly based on theory we first describe the way in which the learning process evolves the ensuing assessment process is closely linked with the educational process but is first and foremost geared towards the learning process of individual students by connecting the above mentioned process activities via a feedback and reflection cycle it becomes possible to establish a strong connection between a course s contents and its related competences to achieve this we need to ensure that throughout the course participants are continuously engaged in a meaningful dialogue interaction and the mutual exchange of constructive feedback not only among students themselves but also among students and their teachers this is partly done in the vlc and partly during meetings held at school a process for which new virtual educational forms have been designed and which focuses on the power of feedback provided and received by students on their specific learning products in the vlc within the val concept the meaningful dialogue is considered to be the measure of good quality education that is supported by ict

i in some periods of the past netherlands medicine has played a major role in the evolution of european medicine today its history still enjoys much in terest even at the other side of the ocean in this bibliography it has been my endeavour to compile references for all that has been written on the history of dutch medicine in our country and elsewhere in our age the main concern of this work is with the medicine of the northern nether lands however before the end ofthe sixteenth century the northern and south ern netherlands were not yet divided into two separate countries they were still politically one and for the greater part spoke the same flemish language so be fore their separation the present day belgium and netherlands also had a com mon medical history therefore many entries have been included which bear on early and sometimes later flemish medicine but it has not been the inten tion to strive for completeness in this respect national concerns and governmental policy goals like elsewhere the impetuses for these reforms are directed to generating a more industry responsive locally accountable and competence based vocational education system each wave of reforms however has had particular emphases and directed to achieve particular policy outcomes yet they are more than mere versions of what had or is occurring elsewhere they are shaped by specific national imperatives sentiments and localised concerns consequently whilst this book elaborate what constitutes the contemporary provision of vocational education in the netherlands also addresses a broader concern of how vocational education systems become formed manifested within nation states and then are transformed through particular imperatives institutional arrangement and localised factors so the readers of this book whilst learning much about the dutch vocational education system will also come to identify and engage with a selection of contributions that inform factors that situate shape and transform vocational education systems such a focus seems important given an era when there are concerns to standardise and make uniform educational provisions often for administrative or political imperatives as such this book will be of interest not only to those who are engaged in the field of vocational education but those with an interest in educational policy practice and comparative studies respect for the procedural rights of any individual involved in police or judicial matters is a basic tenet of a modern and sound system of justice providing legal interpreting services to suspects defendants victims and witnesses who are not proficient in the language in which legal matters are being conducted is a broadly accepted practice throughout the eu however it is only recently that emphasis has been placed on the quality of the services provided eu directive 2010 64 eu through its mandate for quality in legal interpreter and translating services has provided the impetus needed to reexamine current practices and work towards common standards and practices across the eu that would enhance mutual trust and allow for reciprocity and the sharing of expertise this volume reflects the deliberations of a panel of experts from the fields of legal interpreting testing theory and public policy who agree that the most effective means of ensuring quality is through testing and certification it addresses issues related to the assessment of the skill sets and knowledge required to ensure high quality legal interpreting and offers practical guidance and advice on the design and administration of a valid and reliable certification process
