Migration and Stereotypes in Performance and Culture 2020-07-16 post communist malaise examines political modernism within the context of post communist eastern europe and the balkans it focuses on how select cinemas from the regions critique european unification and how they represent related issues like the transition from communism to free market capitalism the euro crisis and austerity and the rise of nationalism and right wing politics

Post-Communist Malaise 2020-05-15 the films of andrei tarkovsky have been revered as ranking on a par with the masterpieces of russia s novelists and composers his work has had an enormous influence on the style and structure of contemporary european film this book is an original and comprehensive account of tarkovsky s entire film output

Andrei Tarkovsky 2008-04-15 about the main psychological and philosophical aspects detached from the film solaris directed by andrei tarkovski as well as the cinema techniques used by the director to convey his messages to the spectator in the introduction i briefly present the relevant elements of tarkovski s biography and an overview of stanislav lem s solaris novel and the film solaris directed by andrei tarkovsky in cinema technique i talk about the specific rhythm of the scenes the radical movement triggered by tarkovsky in modern cinema the role of symbolic and iconic elements and affinities with the fantastic area of russian literature in psychological aspects i analyze the issue of communication in a human society of the future considered by tarkovsky as rigid the obsession of the house and the personal evolution of kris hari and the relationships between them in philosophical aspects the film is analyzed through the philosophy of the mind cartesian dualism reductionism and functionalism

the problem of personal identity the theory of heterotopic spaces developed by michel foucault and the semantic interpretations that can be deduced from the film it also analyzes the issue of personal identity through locke's philosophy conclusions show the general ideas of this essay namely that man's attempts to classify and maintain forms of interaction with unknown entities will always be condemned to failure and will reflect a major mistake in the panoptic world in which we live in this framework of analysis of the philosophy of mind functionalism seems to be the most intuitive solaris is however a movie that begins as a search for answers and comes to provide these answers with a whole range of different questions contents abstract introduction 1 cinema technique 2 psychological aspects 3 philosophical aspects conclusions bibliography notes doi 10.13140/rg.2.2.28635.82723

Solaris, directed by Andrei Tarkovsky 2019-05-07 awarded the tudor vianu prize for literary and cultural theory by the national museum of romanian literature over the past 30 years the fields of world literature and world cinema have developed on parallel but largely separate tracks with little recognition of their underlying similarities and the ways that each can learn from the other time regained does not move from literature to cinema but exists simultaneously in both fields the 7 filmmakers selected here andrei tarkovsky akira kurosawa martin scorsese raúl ruíz wong kar wai stephen daldry and paolo sorrentino are themselves also writers or people with literary training and they produce a new type of world cinema thanks to their understanding of the world simultaneously through literature and film in the process their films produce new readings of literary texts that world literature studies wouldn't have been able to achieve with its own instruments time regained examines how filmmakers build on literature to reconfigure the world as a landscape of dreams and how they use film to reinvent the narrative techniques of the authors on whom they draw the selected filmmakers draw inspiration from french surrealists modernists marcel proust virginia woolf and marguerite yourcenar and predecessors such as dante and cao xueqin in the process these filmmakers cross the borders between film and literature nation and world dream and reality

Time Regained 2021-10-07 what do contemporary american movies and directors have to say about the relationship between nature and art how do science fiction films like steven spielberg's a.i. and darren aronofsky's π represent the apparent oppositions between nature and culture wild and tame steven dillon's intriguing new volume surveys american cinema from 1990 to 2002 with substantial descriptions of sixty films emphasizing small budget independent american film directors studied include steven soderbergh darren aronofsky todd haynes harmony korine and gus van sant as well as more canonical figures like martin scorsese robert altman david lynch and steven spielberg the book takes its title and inspiration from andrei tarkovsky's 1972 film solaris a science fiction ghost story that relentlessly explores the relationship between the powers of nature and art the author argues that american film has the best chance of aesthetic success when it acknowledges that a film is actually a film the best american movies tell an endless ghost story as they perform the agonizing nearness and distance of the cinematic image this groundbreaking commentary examines the rarely seen bridge between select american film directors and their typically more adventurous european counterparts filmmakers such as lynch and soderbergh are cross cut together with tarkovsky and the great french director jean luc godard in order to test the limits and possibilities of american film both enthusiastically cinephilic and fiercely critical this book puts a decade of u.s. film in its global place as part of an ongoing conversation on nature and art

The Elemental Passions of the Soul Poetics of the Elements in the Human Condition: Part 3 2012-12-06 with a new introduction acclaimed director and screenwriter paul schrader revisits and updates his contemplation of slow cinema over the past fifty years unlike the style of psychological realism which dominates film the transcendental style expresses a spiritual state by means of austere camerawork acting devoid of self consciousness and editing that avoids editorial comment this seminal text analyzes the film style of three great directors yasujiro ozu robert bresson and carl dreyer and posits a common dramatic language used by these artists from divergent cultures the new edition updates schrader's theoretical framework and extends his theory to the works of andrei tarkovsky russia béla tarr hungary theo angelopoulos greece and nuri bilge ceylan turkey among others this key work by one of our most searching directors and writers is widely cited and used in film and art classes with evocative prose and nimble associations schrader consistently urges readers and viewers alike to keep exploring the world of the art film

The Solaris Effect 2010-01-01 the phenomenon of time was a central preoccupation of tarkovsky throughout his career his films present visions of time by temporal means that is in time tarkovsky does not represent time through coherent argument nariman skakov proposes rather he presents it and the viewer experiences the argument this book explores the phenomenon of spatio temporal lapse in tarkovsky's cinema from ivan's childhood 1962 to sacrifice 1986 dreams visions mirages memories revelations reveries and delusions are phenomena which present alternative spatio temporal patterns they disrupt the linear progression of events and create narrative discontinuity each chapter is dedicated to the discussion of one of tarkovsky's seven feature films and in each one of these phenomena functions as a refrain skakov discusses the influence of the flow of and lapses in space and time on the viewer's perception of the tarkovskian cinematic universe he opens and closes his original and fascinating book on tarkovsky's cinema by focusing on the phenomenon of time that is discussed extensively by the filmmaker in his main theoretical treatise sculpting in time as well as in a number of interviews and public lectures

Movies as Politics 2023-09-01 it is new year's eve 1945 in a small soviet town not long liberated from german occupation sashenka a headstrong and self centered teenage girl resents her mother for taking a lover after her father's death in the war and denounces her to the authorities for the petty theft that keeps them from going hungry when she meets a jewish lieutenant who has returned to bury his family betrayed and murdered by their neighbors during the occupation both must come to terms with the trauma that surrounds them as their relationship deepens redemption is a stark and powerful portrait of humanity caught up in stalin's police state in the aftermath of the war and the holocaust in this short novel written in 1967 but unpublished for many years friedrich gorenstein effortlessly combines the concrete details of daily life in this devastated society with witness testimonies to the mass murder of jews he gives a realistic account of postwar soviet suffering through nuanced psychological portraits of people confronted with harsh choices and a coming of age story underscored by the deep involvement of sexuality and violence interspersed are flights of philosophical consideration of the relationship between christians and jews love and suffering justice and forgiveness a major addition to the canon of literature bearing witness to the holocaust in the soviet union redemption is an important reckoning with anti semitism and stalinist repression from a significant soviet jewish voice

Ubiquitous Quantum Structure 2010-01-23 if you look for a meaning you'll miss everything that happens almost twenty five years after the death of andrei tarkovsky the mystery of his films remains alive and well recent years have witnessed an ever increasing number of film theorists critics and philosophers taking up the challenge to decipher what these films actually mean but what do these films actually show us in this study thomas redwood undertakes a close formal analysis of tarkovsky's later films charting the stylistic and narrative innovations in Mirror, Stalker, Nostalghia and The Sacrifice. Redwood succeeds in shedding new light on these celebrated but often misunderstood masterpieces of narrative film. Tarkovsky is revealed here both as a cinematic thinker and as an artistic practitioner, a filmmaker of immense poetic significance for the history of cinema.

Redemption 2018-10-23 explores a growing number of films and filmmakers that challenge the strict boundaries between belief and unbelief. For some time now, thinkers across the humanities and social sciences have increasingly called into question the once dominant view of the relationship between modernity and secularism, prompting some to speak of a postsecular turn. Until now, film studies has largely been silent about this development, even though cinema itself has been a major vehicle for such reflection. This fact became inescapable in 2011 when Terrence Malick's The Tree of Life and Lars von Trier's Melancholia were released within days of each other. While these two audacious and controversial films present seemingly opposite perspectives, the former a thoughtful meditation on faith, the latter a portrayal of nontriumphalist atheism, together they raise critical questions about transcendence and immanence in modern life. These films are however only the most conspicuous of a growing body of works that call forth similar and related questions. What this collection aptly calls postsecular cinema, taking the nearly simultaneous release of The Tree of Life and Melancholia as its starting point and framing device, this pioneering collection sets out to establish the idea of postsecular cinema as a distinct body of films and a viable critical category. Adopting a film philosophy approach, one group of essays examines Malick's and von Trier's films, while another looks at works by Chantal Akerman, Denis Arcand, the Dardenne brothers, and John Michael McDonagh. Among others, the volume closes with two important interviews with Luc Dardenne and Jean-Luc Nancy that invite us to reflect more deeply on some of the central concerns of postsecular cinema. John Caruana is associate professor of philosophy at Ryerson University. Mark Cauchi is associate professor in the department of humanities at York University.

Andrei Tarkovsky's Poetics of Cinema 2010-05-11 Andrei Tarkovsky was the most important Russian filmmaker of the post-war era and one of the world's most renowned cinematic geniuses. He directed the first five of his seven films: Ivan's Childhood, Andrei Rublev, Solaris, Mirror, and Stalker in the Soviet Union, but in 1982 defected to Italy, where he made Nostalghia, his final film. The Sacrifice was produced in Sweden in 1985. Tarkovsky's films are characterized by metaphysical themes, extended takes, an absence of conventional dramaturgical structure and plot, and a dream-like, visionary style of cinematography. They achieve a spiritual intensity and transcendent beauty that many consider to be without parallel. This book presents extended sequences of stills from each of the films, alongside synopses and cast and crew listings. It includes reflections on Tarkovsky's work from fellow artists and writers, including Jean-Paul Sartre and Ingmar Bergman, for whom Tarkovsky was the greatest. The one who invented a new language. Extracts from Tarkovsky's own writings and diaries offer a wealth of insights into his poetic and philosophical views on cinematography, which he described as sculpting in time. The book also reproduces many personal Polaroid photographs that confirm the extraordinary poetic vision of a great artist who died aged only 54 but who remains a potent influence on artists and filmmakers today.

Immanent Frames 2018-05-31 A volume of sixty Polaroid photographs of the late Russian filmmaker's friends and family consists of images taken between 1979 and 1984 in his native land and Italy, where he spent time in political exile. Original.

Poetics of the Elements in the Human Condition: The Sea 2012-12-06 Matilda Mroz argues that cinema provides an ideal opportunity to engage with ideas of temporal flow and change. Temporality, however, remains an underexplored area of film analysis, which frequently discusses images as though they were still rather than moving. This book traces the operation of duration in cinema and argues that temporality should be a central concern of film scholarship. In close readings of Michelangelo Antonioni's L'Avventura, Andrei Tarkovsky's Mirror, and the ten short films that make up Krzysztof Kieślowski's Decalogue series, Mroz highlights how film analysis must consider both particular moments in cinema, which are critically significant, and the way in which such moments interrelate in temporal flux. She explores the concepts of duration and rhythm, resonance and uncertainty, affect, sense and texture, to bring a fresh perspective to film analysis and criticism. Essential reading for students and scholars in film studies, this engaging study will also be a valuable resource for critical theorists.

Tarkovsky 2019-02-14 A survey of the work of Andrei Tarkovsky, the Russian film maker who lived from 1932-1986. It is a critical examination of his films in the light of his own writings and life, his aesthetics of film, his theory of time in cinematography, and an attempt to comprehend his vision.

Instant Light 2006 In Sacrifice, in modernity, community, ritual, identity, it is demonstrated how sacrificial themes remain an essential element in our post-modern society.

Temporality and Film Analysis 2012-08-06 Reality has become an increasingly prominent topic in contemporary philosophy. The book's contributors are responding to the challenge to use the philosophically underexplored potential of film to disclose what the editors propose to call the real of reality.

Andrei Tarkovsky 1993-06-18 Heralding the beginning of the philosophical dialogue on the concept for which Gianni Vattimo would become best known and coining its name, this groundbreaking 1983 collection includes foundational essays by Vattimo and Pier Aldo Rovatti, along with original contributions by nine other Italian philosophers influenced by and working within the authors' framework. Dissatisfied with the responses to nineteenth and twentieth-century European philosophy offered by Marxism, deconstruction, and poststructuralism, Vattimo found in the nihilism of Friedrich Nietzsche an important context within which to take up the hermeneutics of Martin Heidegger and Hans-Georg Gadamer. The idea of weak thought, sketched by Vattimo and Rovatti, emphasizes a way of understanding the role of philosophy based on language interpretation and limits rather than on metaphysical and epistemological certainties, without falling into relativism. To the first English language edition of this volume translator peter carravetta adds an extensive critical introduction providing an overview of weak thought and taking stock of its philosophical trajectory over more than a quarter century
