the essays in this book are about the peoples of north west europe in the first millenium ad they were written by archaeologists from various countries who either reveal the results of their archaeological fieldwork or place the knowledge they have of their particular region in a wider supraregional context it is commonly known that archaeologists prefer to devote their time to fieldwork considering the limited number of archaeologists and the multitude of opportunities for fieldwork this preference is quite understandable if not even obvious in addition to this essay writitng is a cumbersome and exhausting activity the warm and enthusiastic response to our request for contributions made it possible ot compose an interesting volume we hope that this publication may encourage many others to remain active in the field of archaeology and that the cooperation among colleagues stimulated by this project may be continued in the future

The Lost Millennium 2010-07-23

have you ever wondered how we really know what year it is part detective story part conspiracy theory part scientific history the lost millennium explores the astonishing possibility that our calendar is out by a thousand years a chance conversation at a conference in mexico started mathematician florin diacu on an amazing journey to make sense of one of the strangest and if true most revolutionary theories you ll ever encounter to understand how scientists could be sceptical about what year it is florin diacu explores the fascinating history of chronology from egyptian horoscopes to the work of isaac newton with cameos by voltaire and edmund halley making the startling discovery that our calendar is far from ironclad it all depends rather on the dating of ancient events about which there is real controversy at once accessible and profound the lost millennium examines the arguments of present day chronological revisionists such as the russian scholar anatoli fomenko who claims that our system of dating is horribly askew fomenko cites evidence from ancient astronomy linguistics and cartography and a crucial manuscript by ptolemy staking his scientific prestige on a theory so controversial that it will change the way you think about time history and the calendar on your wall the field has also inspired its share of now discredited cranks such as immanuel velikovsky a media celebrity of the 1950s his notorious book worlds in collision argued that biblical events are incorrectly dated beautifully written and peopled with fascinating characters from past and present the lost millennium is essential reading for anyone who believes they re living in the year 2005

new insights into the history of islamic glassmaking the ancient glass industry changed dramatically towards the end of the first millennium the roman glassmaking tradition of mineral soda glass was increasingly supplanted by the use of plant ash as the main fluxing agent at the turn of the ninth century ce defining primary production groups of plant ash glass has been a challenge due to the high variability of raw materials and the smaller scale of production islamic glass in the making advocates a large scale archaeometric approach to the history of islamic glassmaking to trace the developments in the production trade and consumption of vitreous materials between the eighth and twelfth centuries and to separate the norm from the exception it proposes compositional discriminants to distinguish regional production groups and provides insights into the organisation of the glass industry and commerce during the early islamic period the interdisciplinary approach leads to a holistic understanding of the development of islamic glass assemblages from the early islamic period in mesopotamia central asia egypt greater syria and iberia are evaluated and placed in the larger geopolitical context in doing so this book fills a gap in the present literature and advances a large scale approach to the history of islamic glass
