this edited collection looks at ruins and vacant buildings as part of south africa s oppressive history of colonialism and apartheid and ways in which the past persists into the present falling monuments reluctant ruins the persistence of the past in the architecture of apartheid interrogates how in the era of decolonization post apartheid south africa reckons with its past in order to shape its future architects historians artists social anthropologists and urban planners seek answers in this book to complex and unsettling questions around heritage ruins and remembrance what do we do with hollow memorials and political architectural remnants which should remain which forgotten and which dismantled are these vacant buildings cemeteries statues and derelict grounds able to serve as inspiration in the fight against enduring racism and social neglect should they become exemplary as spaces for restitution and justice the contributors examine the influence of public memory planning and activism on such anguished places of oppression resistance and defiance their focus on visible markers in the landscape to interrogate our past will make readers reconsider these spaces looking at their landscape and history anew through a series of 14 empirically grounded chapters and 48 images the contributors seek to understand how architecture contests or subverts these persistent conditions in order to promote social justice land reclamation and urban rehabilitation the decades following the dismantling of apartheid are surveyed in light of contemporary heritage projects where building ruins and abandoned spaces are challenged and renegotiated across the country to become sites of protest inspiration and anger this ground breaking collection is an important resource for professionals academics and activists working in south africa today

The Life of Oliver Cromwell

dietrich bonhoeffer was a uniquely reluctant and distinctly german lutheran revolutionary in this volume the author an anglican priest and historian argues that bonhoeffer s powerful critique of germany s moral derailment needs to be understood as the expression of a devout lutheran protestant bonhoeffer gradually recognized the ways in which the intellectual and religious traditions of his own class the bildungsbürgertum were enabling nazi evil in response he offered a religiously inspired call to political opposition and christian witness which cost him his life the author investigates bonhoeffer s stance in terms of his confrontation with the legacy of hegelianism and neo rankeanism and by highlighting bonhoeffer s intellectual and spiritual journey shows how his endeavor to politically reeducate the german people must be examined in theological terms the ancient ruins of southeast asia have long sparked curiosity and romance in the world s imagination they appear in accounts of nineteenth century french explorers as props for indiana jones adventures and more recently as the scene of lady lara croft s fantastical battle with the forces of evil they have been featured in national geographic magazine and serve as backdrops for popular television travel and reality shows now william chapman s expansive new study explores the varied roles these monumental remains have played in the histories of southeast asia s modern nations based on more than fifteen years of travel research and visits to hundreds of ancient sites a heritage of ruins shows the close connection between ruins conservation and both colonialism and nation building it also demonstrates the profound impact of european derived ideas of historic and aesthetic significance on ancient ruins and how these continue to color the management and presentation of sites in southeast asia today angkor pagan bagan borobudur and ayutthaya lie at the center of this cultural and architectural tour but less visited sites including laos s stunning vat phu the small temple platforms of malaysia s lembah bujang valley the candi of the dieng plateau in java and the ruins of mingun in burma and wiang kum kam near Chiang Mai in northern Thailand are also discussed all share a relative isolation from modern urban centers of population sitting in park like settings serving as objects of tourism and as lynchpins for local and even national economies chapman argues that these sites also remain important to surrounding residents both as a means of income and as continuing sources of spiritual meaning he examines the complexities of heritage efforts in the context of present day expectations by focusing on the roles of both outside and indigenous experts in conservation and management and on attempts by local populations to reclaim their patrimony and play a larger role in protection and interpretation tracing the history of interventions aimed at halting time s decay chapman provides a chronicle of conservation efforts over a century and a half highlighting the significant part foreign expertise has played in the region and the ways that national programs have in recent years begun to break from earlier models the book ends with suggestions for how southeast asian managers and officials might best protect their incomparable heritage of art and architecture and how this legacy might be preserved for future generations
