More Giants of the Genre 2009-04 this exploration of the texture of contemporary polish jewish relations has its origins in the author s haunting experience of growing up polish and jewish in warsaw in the 1960s it began with questions about silence the silence of jewish parents and the silence of once jewish towns the silence in auschwitz and the silence about anti semitism but when the author went to europe in 1983 to work on the project that resulted in this book poland was in the midst of preparation for a grand commemoration of the warsaw ghetto uprising from all parts of the political spectrum came calls to remember and to honor polish jews to reexamine and to reassess the past in effect poland was inviting the jew into its household of memories what did such an invitation mean and what accounted for the timing this vividly written account of the people the politics the goals and the obstacles behind words of remembrance in poland is an example of cultural sociology at its best the author draws on a combination of textual readings interviews and historical analyses the book s main strength is its continuous dialogue between analyst and insider between knowledge and experience into a field where cognitive and emotional imprints make all the difference the author brings unique appreciation of the power they hold she has shared them into a field where partisanship so often passes for objectivity she brings openly stated commitment and into a field where particularism of concerns so often deadlocks understanding she brings much needed broadening of vision students of modern jewish history will find this volume an informative analysis of the past and present roles assigned to the jew in poland students of contemporary poland will find new perspectives on its struggles for a democratic society and for those concerned with how one reconciles one s self and one s history neutralizing memory offers an empirically based reflection on the construction and deconstruction of remembrance

Lorena Garcia's New Latin Classics 1990-01-01 inhaltsangabe abstract today we observe a development in which the role of language is steadily decreasing whereas the impact of pictures is increasing this goes hand in hand with a development in which information relies more and more on visual concepts more and more language takes the part of explaining how to read the visual presentations more and more language takes the part of providing the background information which is necessary to understand the meaning of the visual foreground kress and van leeuwen 1998 argue that today we seem to move towards a decrease of control over language e g the greater variety of accents allowed on the public media the increasing problems in enforcing normative spelling and towards an increase in codification and control over the visual e g the use of image banks from which ready made images can be drawn for the constuction of visual texts and generally the effect of computer imaging technology although we may be aware of this tendency we have not been taught in school how to read visual concepts and so most of us share some degree of illiteracy concerning a critical reading of information presented by images this is remarkable because we all agree about their influence on our lives but at the same time when we do not develop analytical tools for describing what kinds of strategies what kinds of concepts are working in visual presentations of information we tend to overlook the importance of visual concepts simply because we generally do not know enough about their code this paper analyses photos and language which are parts of ads which have definitely been designed for transferring messages because they have been made to advertise one specific product images and the text of advertisements never are casual products like family pictures although the photo in the family album is coded its coding is less elaborated than the coding of pictures in ads we have to keep in mind that many people experts in advertising experts in public relations were involved in the process of designing an ad before we can look at the final result this is why ads are definitely conceptually designed because they are meant to create a specific meaning in the viewer's mind it is a truism that no visual concept no photo of an ad was chosen by chance photographs and language of ads are more likely to have been carefully constructed and selected according to the meaning they are supposed to create this is
