learn the tools to shed your mask of extroversion develop your own magnetism and reveal the true you one third to one half of americans are introverts in a culture that celebrates even enforces an ideal of extroversion and a cult of personality political leaders are charismatic celebrities bask in the spotlight and authority figures are assertive it is no surprise that a quiet revolution has begun to emerge among the invisible half of the population asserting that they are just as powerful in their own unique ways the irresistible introvert embodies the spirit of this revival and breaks down the myth that charisma is reserved for extroverts only this mini manifesto shows introverts how to master the art of quiet magnetism in a noisy world no gregariousness required within these pages you'll discover how to shed the mask of extroversion and reveal a more compelling and authentic you you'll also learn how to master the inner game of intrigue manage your energy for optimal engagement create an emotional ecosystem for charisma establish introverted intimacy cultivate communication skills for quiet types as a professional charismatic introvert author michaela chung demonstrates that you no longer have to forcefully push yourself outward into the world against your nature but can rather magnetize people inward toward the true you in the process you'll learn to embrace your innie life and discover potential you never knew you had

The End of Love

western culture has endlessly represented the ways in which love miraculously erupts in people's lives the mythical moment in which one knows someone is destined for us the feverish waiting for a phone call or an email the thrill that runs down our spine at the mere thought of him or her yet a culture that has so much to say about love is virtually silent on the no less mysterious moments when we avoid falling in love where we fall out of love when the one who kept us awake at night now leaves us indifferent or when we hurry away from those who excited us a few months or even a few hours before in the end of love eva illouz documents the multifarious ways in which relationships end she argues that if modern love was once marked by the freedom to enter sexual and emotional bonds according to one's will and choice contemporary love has now become characterized by practices of non choice the freedom to withdraw from relationships illouz dubs this process by which relationships fade evaporate dissolve and break down unloving while sociology has classically focused on the formation of social bonds the end of love makes a powerful case for studying why and how social bonds collapse and dissolve particularly striking is the role that capitalism plays in practices of non choice and unloving the unmaking of social bonds she argues is connected to contemporary capitalism which is characterized by practices of non commitment and non choice practices that enable the quick withdrawal from a transaction and the quick realignment of prices and the breaking of loyalties unloving and non choice have in turn a profound impact on society and economics as they explain why people may be having fewer children increasingly living alone and having less sex the end of love presents a profound and original analysis of the effects of capitalism and consumer culture on personal relationships and of what the dissolution of personal relationships means for capitalism
