to new york city on the thirtieth of june 1985 with just two hundred dollars in his pocket he had no relatives or friends shoulders to lean on when things became rough he just had his drive and entrepreneurship to keep him going it was rough for him during the first seven years living in squalor in kansas city missouri not having electric in apartments and not having a car in columbia south carolina getting involved in a life threatening car accident in perry florida having bicycles stolen in valdosta georgia and working illegally for those seven years with fake social security numbers he eventually ended up living and working in columbia where he met and fell in love with his wife to be whilst working at a restaurant as a waiter he proposed to his wife to be just before christmas 1991 in july 1992 the young man travelled back to england to see his siblings nephews and nieces and also to get his b1 b2 visa renewed when he attempted to come back to america the ins the immigration and naturalisation service cornered him after suspecting that he was coming to america to work illegally after they searched his pockets their suspicions were correct they had no other choice than to deport him and send him back to the uk he was allowed one telephone call just like citizens that have been arrested are allowed that call was made to his fiancée sobbing he said for her to forget about him he was then escorted back to the aeroplane on which he flew back to england thinking that he would never see his fiancée again that s not the end of the story just like in the fairy tales where the knight in shining armour rescues the damsel in distress it was the other way around in this story the damsel rescued the knight by obtaining a passport travelling by herself to england and sweeping the knight off his feet by marrying him it was relatively plain sailing after animal a thousand miles miles long attributed to aristotle refers to a sprawling body that cannot be seen in its entirety from a single angle a thing too vast and complicated to be knowable as a whole for leath tonino the animal a thousand miles long is the landscape of his native vermont tonino grew up along the shores of lake champlain situated between vermont s green mountains and new york s adirondacks his career as a nature and travel writer has taken him across the country but he always turns his eye back on his home state all along he writes i ve been exploring various parts of the animal trying to make a prose map of its body not to understand it in a conclusive or definitive way but rather to celebrate it to hint at its possibilities this fragmented yet deep search is the overarching theme of the twenty essays in the animal one thousand miles long tonino posits that geography natural history human experience and local traditions seasons and especially atypical outings on skis bicycles sleds and boogie boards can open us to a place and simultaneously open a place to us he looks closely at the 262 mile length of vermont but his underlying mission is to demonstrate our collective need to better understand the meaning of place especially the ones we call home and think we know best from laredo to jackson hole san francisco to burlington his sensibility is applicable to us all in his signature piece seven lengths of vermont he traverses the length of the state in seven different ways a twenty day hike 500 miles on bicycle a thirty six ride hitchhiking tour 260 miles in a canoe ten days swimming lake champlain a three week ski trek and a two hour vast and fast flyover he plots each route with blue ink on maps strung across his office each inky thread was an animal a thousand miles long he writes vermont appeared before me as a menagerie what bill bryson s a walk in the woods did for the appalachian trail and peter mayle s a year in provence
