World History 2014 the pages of this book illustrate that as instruments of socialization and sites of ideological discourse textbooks are powerful artefacts in introducing young people to a specific historical cultural and socioeconomic order crucially exploring the social construction of school textbooks and the messages they impart provides an important context from within which to critically investigate the dynamics underlying the cultural politics of education and the social movements that form it and which are formed by it the school curriculum is essentially the knowledge system of a society incorporating its values and its dominant ideology the curriculum is not our knowledge born of a broad hegemonic consensus rather it is a battleground in which cultural authority and the right to define what is labelled legitimate knowledge is fought over as each chapter in this book illustrates curriculum as theory and practice has never been and can never be divorced from the ethical economic political and cultural conflicts of society which impact so deeply upon it we cannot escape the clear implication that questions about what knowledge is of most worth and about how it should be organized and taught are problematic contentious and very serious

What Shall We Tell the Children? 2006-04-01 existing textbooks on international relations treat history in a cursory fashion and perpetuate a euro centric perspective this textbook pioneers a new approach by historicizing the material traditionally taught in international relations courses and by explicitly focusing on non european cases debates and issues the volume is divided into three parts the first part focuses on the international systems that traditionally existed in europe east asia pre columbian central and south america africa and polynesia the second part discusses the ways in which these international systems were brought into contact with each other through the agency of mongols in central asia arabs in the mediterranean and the indian ocean indic and sinic societies in south east asia and the europeans through their travels and colonial expansion the concluding section concerns contemporary issues the processes of decolonization neo colonialism and globalization and their consequences on contemporary society history of international relations provides a unique textbook for undergraduate and graduate students of international relations and anybody interested in international relations theory history and contemporary politics

Making Sense of World History 2020-10-22 has any question about the historical past ever been finally answered of course there is much disagreement among professional historians about what happened in the past and how to explain it but this incisive study goes one step further and brings into question the very ability of historians to gather and communicate genuine knowledge about the past understanding history applies this general question from the philosophy of history to economic history of american slaveholders do we understand the american slaveholders has the last word on the subject been said both the alleged profitability of slavery and the purported causes of the american civil war are philosophically analyzed traditional narrative history and econometric history are examined and compared and their different philosophical assumptions made explicit the problem of justifying historical methodologies is first set in the wider context of the philosophical problem of knowledge then lucidly explained and resolved along pragmatic lines the novelty of gorman s approach lies in its comparison of narrative with econometric history its analysis of empathetic understanding in terms of cost benefit analysis and its elucidation of the metaphysical presuppositions of empiricism it stands out especially for the clarity rigor and simplicity of its arguments

History of International Relations 2019-08-02 over the past fifteen years northeast asia has witnessed growing intraregional exchanges and interactions especially in the realms of culture and economy still the region cannot escape from the burden of history this book examines the formation of historical memory in four northeast asian societies china japan south korea and taiwan and the united states focusing on the period from the beginning of the sino japanese war in 1931 until the formal conclusion of the pacific war with the san francisco peace treaty of 1951 the contributors analyse the recent efforts of korean japanese and chinese scholars to write a common history of northeast asia and question the underlying motivations for their efforts and subsequent achievements in doing so they contend that the greatest obstacle to reconciliation in northeast asia lies in the existence of divided and often conflicting historical memories the book argues that a more fruitful approach lies in understanding how historical memory has evolved in each country and been incorporated into respective master narratives through uncovering the existence of different master narratives it is hoped citizens will develop a more self critical self reflective approach to their own history and that such an introspective effort has the potential to lay the foundation for greater self and mutual understanding and eventual historical reconciliation in the region this book will be essential reading for students and scholars of asian history asian education and international relations in east asia
