fashion is at once a familiar yet mysteriously elite world that we all experience whether we're buying a new pair of jeans reading vogue or watching the latest episode of project runway lars svendsen dives into that world in fashion exploring the myths ideas and history that make up haute couture the must have trends over the centuries and the very concept of fashion itself fashion opens with an exploration of all the possible meanings encompassed by the word fashion as svendsen probes its elusive place in art politics and history ultimately however he focuses on the most common use of the term clothing with his trademark dry wit he deftly dismantles many of the axioms of the industry and its supporters for example he points out that some of the latest fashions shown on runways aren't actually fashionable in any sense of the word arguing that they're more akin to modern art works and he argues against the increasingly prevalent idea that plastic surgery and body modification are part of a new wave of consumerism svendsen draws upon the writings of thinkers from adam smith to roland barthes to analyze fashion as both a historical phenomenon and a philosophy of aesthetics he also traces the connections between the concepts of fashion and modernity and ultimately considers the importance of evolving fashions to such fields as art politics and philosophy whether critiquing a relentless media culture that promotes perfect bodies or parsing the never ending debate over the merits of conformity versus individual style lars svendsen offers an engaging and intriguing analysis of fashion and the motivations behind its constant pursuit of the new

the intent of this chapter is to outline a distinctive way of thinking about issues of technology and society that has characterized many nordic approaches to the topic one of the characteristics of this approach has been the recognition of the worth of human labour technology is not seen as an alien force but something which is itself a product of human labour and it can be designed and utilized in ways which augment human skills and expertise rather than degrading them what is particularly striking at least to this author in this approach is that we are presented not simply with a vision of how things could be better in our society but with concrete exemplars of how we can build such a better world it is in recognition of this fact that i have chosen the title of this chapter as it emphasizes that while the tradition of utopian literature is the lineation of a supposedly idea world which exists no place u topos in greek these visions can be an inspiration for quite practical activities on the ground as steps towards their realization as wilde notes in the quote above this is a never ending quest as with each achievement we recognize that there are further bridges to cross and places to be visited
