English Language Teaching in China 2007 this book examines the importance of english language teaching in china but also the need for this teaching to be modernised in order for china to better join the world economy the current trend within english teaching in china is for communicative competence that is being able to communicate with linguistic pragmatic discourse and strategic competence this volume argues that such a theoretical framework of communicative competence needs to be expanded to address both global needs and local contexts if english

~~New Perspectives on Grammar Teaching in Second Language Classrooms~~ 2001-07 new perspectives on grammar teaching in second language classrooms brings together various approaches to the contextualized teaching of grammar and communicative skills as integrated components of second language instruction its purpose is to show from both theoretical and practical perspectives that grammar teaching can be made productive and useful in esl and efl classrooms in this text first rate scholars approach the teaching of grammar from multiple complementary perspectives providing an original comprehensive treatment of the topic discourse analysis and research data are used to address such pedagogical areas as grammatical and lexical development in speaking listening reading and writing the communicative perspective on esl and efl instruction that is presented provides ways for learners to enhance their production skills whereas the meaning based grammar instruction can supplement and strengthen current methodology with a communicative focus this volume is intended as a foundational text for second language grammar pedagogy courses at the advanced undergraduate and master s levels Communicative Language Teaching (CLT) 2021-09-23 seminar paper from the year 2021 in the subject pedagogy the teacher educational leadership grade 1 0 university of duisburg essen language english abstract the main goal of this paper is to clarify and ask how important is the role of teachers in communicative language teaching clt to answer this question clt is first defined after that the development of clt will be looked at followed by ~~the most important core assumptions then it~~ becomes more school specific and the influence of clt on the efl classroom will be analysed where two other teaching methods that have their origin in clt will be introduced foreign languages are an important topic in schools while especially the english language is foregrounded learning the english language here in germany is obligatory with the beginning of school life even though this might change in the near future as we all know the best way to learn a language is to speak it over and over again because without communication and speaking the language you will never speak a language fluently no matter how well you master the individual grammatical rules of course also the content of the language someone is learning is important consequently the content needs to be adapted to the respective students and classes in order to prepare these people for mastering real life situations following this there are several interesting methods of teaching second or foreign languages one of the most popular methods is called communicative language teaching this method is mainly used when teachers try to teach second languages to students in a communicative way pedagogical issue in language education seen by some as a space for thinking and reflection during the learning process for others silence represents a threat inhibiting target language interaction which is so vital during second language acquisition this book eschews stereotypes and generalisations about why so many learners from east asia seem either reluctant or unable to speak in english by providing a state of the art account ~~of current research into the complex and ambiguous~~ issue of silence in language education the innovative research included in this volume focuses on silence both as a barrier to successful learning and as a resource that may in some cases facilitate language acquisition the book offers a fresh perspective on ways to facilitate classroom interaction while also embracing silence and it touches on key pedagogical concepts such as teacher cognition the role of task features classroom interactional approaches pedagogical intervention and socialisation willingness to communicate as well as psychological and sociocultural factors each of the book's chapters include self reflection and discussion tasks as well as annotated bibliographies for further reading

The Cambridge Guide to Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages 2001-02-15 seminar paper from the year 2017 in the subject english pedagogy didactics literature studies grade 82 language english abstract two methods of teaching foreign languages the direct method and the grammar translation method are described and compared the underlying principles with main focus on acquisition of communicative skills and grammatical knowledge respectively are illustrated looking at possible results of either method we find that there is no gradual difference between them in the sense of better or worse but that both ~~have completely different targets the suggestion~~ is made to combine different methods in order to achieve multiple goals and to vary the emphasis according to individual goals the most ancient and probably most fundamental controversy in language teaching is the one between direct method and grammar translation method both of these have totally different underlying approaches for interested educational stakeholders or educators there are two important questions they should think of before looking for an appropriate method what do i want the students to achieve how can the learners reach this goal one can think of different goals which should be reached by teaching a language and every teacher will want to cover most of them in their teaching the emphasis however is very divers between the different approaches that have been developed over the years and the most apparent difference a completely different idea of how to teach language shows up between the two mentioned methods and their approaches respectively this is why it is so interesting and exciting to compare these two methods and this is why i will try to tackle that task in this paper the first and main goal of teaching a language obviously is teaching the language but here rises already the first question what is the language that we want the learners to learn are we talking about skills in oral or written language is our focus more on active or passive language i e on speaking and writing or listening and reading respectively are we concerned about correctness or fluency does correctness mean formulating grammatically correct

~~sentences or texts does it refer to perfect~~ pronunciation and intonation are we talking about style aptly adapted to the contextual situation and does fluency have to do with the speed of writing or speaking with the ability to develop own ideas and own formulations while speaking or writing rather than using memorized phrases or do we want the learners to know about the language understanding its structure its roots its development

A Comparison between "Direct Method" and Grammar "Translation Method". Different Language Teaching Methods 2018-10-22 the volume is a practical introduction to the ways in which the teachers deal with classroom events in the context of change for researchers teachers administrators who wish to implement curriculum reform to efl in schools the author provides insights into the beliefs of chinese teachers of english as a foreign language efl and their pedagogical choices in the context of the national english curriculum reform the complex nature of efl teachers beliefs about efl teaching and learning are exposed how their beliefs interact with mental and actionable processes triggered by classroom practice and how their beliefs co adapt with contexts to maintain the stability of the teachers belief systems this is the first study to present complexity theory in a narrative context of education exploring the non linear and unpredictable features of the relationship between the teachers beliefs and practices integrating complexity theory with interpretivist ecological and sociocultural perspectives this book contributes to the research what are the problems going to be when one attempts work such as this what does one do on discovering that an administrator's agenda is different than one had thought what does one do when a teacher resents intrusions into her classroom this book offers a view on those kinds of issues as presented and managed by successful classroom researchers themselves the authors present their own experiences including on occasion their trials and tribulations and how they dealt with them they lay themselves open to criticism in doing so but they make their contributions much the richer as well the classroom contexts extend to different countries and range from elementary schools to universities some of the issues presented are the necessarily collaborative nature of the research the question of meshing pedagogically sound and experimentally acceptable practices the often strong possibility that political and social decisions will interrupt the research the perennial question of reporting out the results and the training of graduate student researchers
