the city is the home of prosperity it is the place where human beings find satisfaction of basic needs and access to essential public goods the city is also where ambitions aspirations and other material and immaterial aspects of life are realized providing contentment and happiness it is a locus at which the prospects of prosperity and individual and collective well being can be increased however when prosperity is restricted to some groups when it is used to pursue specific interests or when it is a justification for financial gains for the few to the detriment of the majority the city becomes the arena where the right to shared prosperity is claimed and fought for as people in the latter part of 2011 gathered in cairo s tahrir square in madrid s puerta del sol in front of london s st paul s cathedral or in new york s zuccotti park they were not only demanding more equality and inclusion they were also expressing the need for prosperity to be shared across all segments of society what this new edition of state of the world s cities shows is that prosperity for all has been compromised by a narrow focus on economic growth un habitat suggests a fresh approach to prosperity beyond the solely economic emphasis including other vital dimensions such as quality of life adequate infrastructures equity and environmental sustainability the report proposes a new tool the city prosperity index together with a conceptual matrix the wheel of prosperity both of which are meant to assist decision makers to design clear policy interventions the report advocates for the need of cities to enhance the public realm expand public goods and consolidate rights to the commons for all as a way to expand prosperity this comes in response to the observed trend of enclosing or restricting these goods and commons in enclaves of prosperity or depleting them through unsustainable use the report maps out major policy steps to promote a new type of city the city of the twenty first century that is a good people centred city one that is capable of integrating the tangible and more intangible aspects of prosperity and in the process shedding off the inefficient unsustainable forms and functionalities of the city of the previous century by doing this un habitat plays a pivotal role in ensuring that urban planning legal regulatory and institutional frameworks become instruments of prosperity and well being climate change is one of the most pressing problems facing the global community although most states agree that climate change is occurring and is at least partly the result of humans reliance on fossil fuels managing a changing global climate is a formidable challenge underlying this challenge is the fact that states are sovereign governed by their own laws and regulations sovereignty requires that states address global problems such as climate change on a voluntary basis by negotiating international agreements despite a consensus on the need for global action many questions remain concerning how a meaningful international climate agreement can be realized this book brings together leading experts to speak to such questions and to offer promising ideas for the path toward a new climate agreement organized in three main parts it examines the potential for meaningful climate cooperation part 1 explores sources of conflict that lead to barriers to an effective climate agreement part 2 investigates how different processes influence states prospects of resolving their differences and of reaching a climate agreement that is more effective than the current kyoto protocol finally part 3 focuses on governance issues including lessons learned from existing institutional structures the book is unique in that it brings together the voices of experts from many disciplines such as economics political science international law and natural science the authors are academics practitioners consultants and advisors contributions draw on a variety of methods and include both theoretical and empirical studies the book should be of interest to scholars and graduate students in the fields of economics political science environmental law natural resources earth sciences sustainability and many others it is directly relevant for policy makers stakeholders and climate change negotiators offering insights into the role of uncertainty fairness policy linkage burden sharing and alternative institutional designs

why and how did islam become such a political force in so many muslim majority countries in this book jocelyne cesari investigates the relationship between modernization politics and islam in muslim majority countries such as egypt iraq pakistan tunisia and turkey countries that were founded by secular rulers and have since undergone secularized politics cesari argues that nation building processes in these states have not created liberal democracies in the western mold but have instead spurred the politicization of islam by turning it into a modern national ideology looking closely at examples of islamic dominance in political modernization this study provides a unique overview of the historical and political developments from the end of world war ii to the arab spring that have made islam the dominant force in the construction of the modern states and discusses islam s impact on emerging democracies in the contemporary middle east international institutions from the international monetary fund to the international olympic committee are perceived as bastions of sclerotic mediocrity at best and outright corruption at worst and this perception is generally not far off the mark in the wake of the 2008 financial crash daniel w drezner like so many others looked at the smoking ruins of the global economy and wondered why global economic governance structure had failed so spectacularly and what could be done to reform them in the future but then a funny thing happened as he surveyed their actions in the wake of the crash he realized that the evidence pointed to the exact opposite conclusion global economic governance had succeeded in the system worked drezner a renowned political scientist and international relations expert contends that despite the massive scale and reverberations of this latest crisis larger arguably than those that precipitated the great depression the global economy has bounced back remarkably well examining the major resuscitation efforts by the g 20 imf wto and other institutions he shows that thanks to the efforts of central bankers and other policymakers the international response was sufficiently coordinated to prevent the crisis from becoming a full fledged depression yet the narrative about the failure of multilateral economic institutions persists both because the great recession affected powerful nations whose governments managed their own economies poorly and because the most influential policy analysts who write the books and articles on the crisis hail from those nations nevertheless drezner argues while it s true that the global economy is still fragile these institutions survived the stress test of the financial crisis and may have even become more resilient and valuable in the process bucking the conventional wisdom about the new g zero world drezner rehabilitates the image of the much maligned international institutions and demolishes some of the most dangerous myths about the financial crisis the system worked is a vital contribution to our understanding of an area where the stakes could not be higher china weathered the global financial crisis better than most thanks to a large and timely stimulus this stimulus however was mainly in the form of off budget infrastructure spending and thus not visible in the headline fiscal data we construct a time series for the augmented fiscal deficit and debt augmented to include off budget activity that better illustrates the counter cyclical role of fiscal policy the results also show that the augmented fiscal deficit and debt are both considerably higher than the headline government data suggest nonetheless at around 45 percent of gdp the augmented debt is still at a manageable level
