Lathrop Report on Newspaper Indexes 1979 how do journalists know what they know who gets to decide what good journalism is and when it s done right what sort of expertise do journalists have and what role should and do they play in society until a couple of decades ago journalists rarely asked these questions largely because the answers were generally undisputed now the stakes are rising for journalists as they face real time critique and audience pushback for their ethics news reporting and relevance yet the crises facing journalism have been narrowly defined as the result of disruption by new technologies and economic decline this book argues that the concerns are in fact much more profound drawing on their five years of research with journalists in the u s and canada in a variety of news organizations from startups and freelancers to mainstream media the authors find a digital reckoning taking place regarding journalism's founding ideals and methods the book explores journalism's long standing representational harms arguing that despite thoughtful explorations of the role of publics in journalism the profession hasn't adequately addressed matters of gender race intersectionality and settler colonialism in doing so the authors rethink the basis for what journalism says it could and should do suggesting that a turn to strong objectivity and systems journalism provides a path forward they offer insights from journalists own experiences and efforts at repair reform and transformation to consider how journalism can address its limits and possibilities along with widening media publics

Making a Country Newspaper: Being a Detailed Statement of the Essentials to Success in Newspaper Ma 2019-03-07 since the founding america's faith in a democratic republic has depended on citizens who could be trusted to be communicators vigorous talk about equality rights and collaboration fueled the revolution the declaration of independence and the constitution with its amendments in a republic the people set the terms for their lives not individually but in community the genius of keeping it alive exists in how everyday citizens talk and listen write and read for a common good dialogue and deliberation rather than an accumulation of individual preferences sustains a republic yet a diminished and scarred institution of journalism jeopardizes citizens access to shared and truthful information a disturbing what's in it for me attitude has taken over many citizens and a creeping autocratic sense of dismissive accusation too often characterizes the political style of elected officials the basic fuel for democracy is the willingness of informed citizens to take each other seriously as they talk about political choices once we begin to clam up build walls and dismiss each other we unravel the threads tying us to the founders vision of a republic a free press and free speech become meaningless if not supported by sustained listening to multiple positions there are those who profit by dividing citizens into two camps a comfortable us versus a scary them they make their case with accusations and often with lies they warp the very meaning of communication hoping citizens never truly discover each other's humanity democracy's news discusses today's problems of public communication in the context of history law and interpersonal life news should not be something to dread mistrust or shun aided by reliable factual journalism citizens can develop a community based knowledge to cope with social issues great and small they come to treat neighbors and strangers as more than stereotypes or opponents they become collaborators with whom to identify and sustain a working republic where news citizenship and public discourse merge
