a cura di laura zadra volume i of franco montanari s kleine schriften comprises some 66 papers on ancient scholarship a topic which he decisively helped establishing as an extremely important field of study they include general surveys of alexandrian and pergamene philology major contributions to ancient homer scholarship with a particular emphasis on aristarchus ancient scholarship on hesiod and aeschylus as well as an important number of editions and notes on papyrological scholarly texts volume ii consists of 42 contributions to homer s iliad and odyssey pindar aeschylus herodotus euripides the athenaion politeia lucian nonnus philosophical papyri the reception of antiquity and portraits of contemporary scholars the first book to study women s poverty over the life course this wide ranging collection focuses on the economic condition of single mothers and single elderly women while also considering partnered women and immigrants in eight wealthy but diverse countries canada france germany italy japan sweden the united kingdom and the united states in a rich analysis of labor market and social welfare sectors gertrude schaffner goldberg and a team of outstanding international contributors conclude that both living wage employment and government provision of adequate benefits and services are necessary if lone women are to achieve a socially acceptable living standard taken together the chapters extend a feminist critique of welfare state theories and chart nations disparate progress against poverty probing for instance how sweden emerged a leader in the prevention of women s poverty while the united states continues to lag by identifying the social and economic policies that enable women to live independently poor women in rich countries provides nothing less than a blueprint for abolishing women s poverty this book will help the reader see that italian food is not off limits for people with diabetes it will help change the way italian cuisine is viewed abroad and demonstrate ways in which traditional italian food can be part of a diabetes friendly eating plan this book presents a range of topics conveying the broad scope of richard tomlinson s archaeological quests and echoing his own research methodologies it is is a token of appreciation for a british professor of archaeology who spread knowledge of the greek civilization manifesting the brilliant spirit of the versatile ancient greek builders this guide includes links to tourist resources recipes and salami webpages googling the right information is frustrating there are too many websites to see which one is the most appropriate enrico selected the right sites that applies to his guide and included them here for you this guide leads you in a fifteen days visit to apulia it starts from orton a mare it goes through vasto campobasso lucera foggia troia melfi potenza gravina matera taranto gallipoli otranto lecce brindisi alberobello with its trulli bari barletta trani castel del monte the gargano peninsula with its national park termoli to end up again in orton a mare it also describes a possible visit to the tremiti islands from termoli and how to get there it includes a chapter on the food and wine of apulia the links to the webpages as well as to local recipes are active in the digital ebook editions in the late middle ages italy was one of the most urbanized areas in europe its coasts the apennines the perialpine area and the plains were all home to a large number of smaller towns lands villages castra and quasi cites these settlements were all very diverse in terms of demographic consistency social articulation and economic dynamism but together they constituted a characteristic and constitutive element of the italian historical identity an original personality this volume thanks to some framing essays and a mapping of individual cases involving most of the northern central and southern regions aims at investigating the active research on this topic over the last thirty to forty years the deonomasticon italicum provides a systematic historical treatment of and commentary on the lexemes of italian derived from proper names it covers both derivations from geographical names including those from ethnic roots which are of especial interest both for the history of vocabulary and for cultural history and from the names of persons the understanding of the trajectory of the sow the chapters map the current state of the theoretical background of the sub discipline s development to broader socio political and economic changes traced across a heterogeneous set of national contexts different definitions of the sow in each country often reflect variations in the focus of analysis and these chapters link the subject definition and focus to other social science disciplines the state as well as social class interests and ideologies the book contends that the ways in which the sub discipline makes sense of changes in work is itself a response to the type of society in which the sub discipline is practiced whether in the post war social democratic west the soviet east or today s societies dominated by variant forms of neo liberalism it will be of use to scholars and students interested in the transnational history of the discipline of sociology with a specific focus on the nexus between the sociology of labour ideology economics and politics a companion to ethnicity in the ancient mediterranean presents a comprehensive collection of essays contributed by classical studies scholars that explore questions relating to ethnicity in the ancient mediterranean world covers topics of ethnicity in civilizations ranging from ancient egypt and israel to greece and rome and into late antiquity features cutting edge research on ethnicity relating to philistine etruscan and phoenician identities reveals the explicit relationships between ancient and modern ethnicities introduces an interpretation of ethnicity as an active component of social identity represents a fundamental questioning of formally accepted and fixed categories in the field temples are the most prestigious buildings in the urban landscape of ancient italy emerging within a network of centres of the then known mediterranean world notwithstanding the fragmentary condition of the buildings remains these monuments and especially their richly decorated roofs are crucial sources of information on the constitution of political social and craft identities acting as agents in displaying the meaning of images the subject of this volume is thematic and includes material from the eastern mediterranean including greece and turkey contributors discuss the network between patron elites and specialized craft communities that were responsible for the sophisticated terracotta decoration of temples in italy between 600 and 100 bc focusing on the mobility of craft people and craft traditions and techniques asking how images iconographies practices and materials can be used to explain the organization of ancient production distribution and consumption special attention has been given to relations with the eastern mediterranean greece and anatolia investigating craft communities workshop organizations and networks has never been thoroughly undertaken for this period and region nor for this exceptionally rich category of materials or for the craftspeople producing the architectural terracottas papers in this volume aim to improve our understanding of roof production and construction in this period to reveal relationships between main production centres and to study the possible influences of immigrant craftspeople nelson fausto the greek myth of prometheus with its picture of a vulture feasting on its chained victim has traditionally provided a visual image of liver regeneration it is a powerful and frightening representation but if one were to substitute the vulture by a surgeon and prometheus by a patient laying on a properly prepared operating table the outcome of the procedure would not differ significantly from that described by greek poets yet few of us who work in the field have stopped long enough to ask where this myth originated did the poet observe a case of liver regeneration in a human being was it brilliant intuition or perhaps literally just a gut feeling of a poet looking for good rhymes that led to the prediction that livers grow when part of the tissue is removed this book does not attempt to solve these historical issues it does instead cover in detail some of the major modern themes of research on liver regeneration injury and repair as indicated in dr n bucher's chapter the modern phase of experimental studies on liver regeneration started in 1931 with the publication by higgins and anderson of a method to perform a two thirds resection of the liver of a rat the technique described has 3 remarkable features 1 it is highly reproducible resulting in the removal of 68 of the liver 2 it has minimal if any mortality and 3 it consists only of blood vessel ligation and does not involve cutting through or wounding hepatic tissue in this book which was originally published in 2005 amanda lillie challenges the urban bias in renaissance art and architectural history by investigating the architecture and patronage strategies particularly those of the strozzi and the sassetti clans in the florentine countryside during the fifteenth century based entirely on archival material that remained unpublished at the time of publication her book examines a number of villas from this period and reconstructs the value systems that emerge from these sources which defy the traditional idealized interpretation of the renaissance villa here the house is studied in relation to the families who lived in them and to the land that surrounded them the villa emerges as a functional utilitarian farming unit upon whose success families depended and where dynastic and patrimonial values could be nurtured
