most often when joint operations are conducted by a larger service individual armed service historians tell the story of events ignoring sometimes even trivialising participation of the other armed services sometimes navy historians inferred navy credit for a naval event conducted by a coast guard individual or the coast guard by documenting the event but ignoring coast guard presence documentation of history resulting from both similar and diverse contributions and authorities from a different sea service is lost by this historian approach for example navy historian roy a grossnick in his june 2001 book em united states naval aviation 1910 1995 em only mentions coast guard participation in early naval aviation and the world war once when the secretary of navy was advised It e f stone uscg was ordered to nas pensacola for aviation training as this book documents coast guard individuals and the coast guard service gave many contributions to the world war and to development and growth of naval aviation during that period br br em float planes and flying boats the coast guard and early naval aviation em is a single comprehensive volume telling the history of early naval aviation the navy the marine corps and the coast guard a unified history of all naval aviators it describes interrelationship and mutual support in years leading to 1920 the marine corps and coast guard did not own aircraft the three sea service s aviators flew navy aircraft on navy missions from navy ships and navy air stations commanded by navy and coast guard aviators the bond between them was born it was a unique time for the book is documented with 427 endnotes and features 281 vintage aviation photographic images and a nautical chart of historical note embedded within its text this balance of photographs and endnote documentation provides both visual and written history that will come alive for the reader
