for twelve years robert blecker a criminal law professor wandered freely inside lorton central prison armed only with cigarettes and a tape recorder the death of punishment tests legal philosophy against the reality and wisdom of street criminals and their guards some killers poignant circumstances should lead us to mercy others show clearly why they should die after thousands of hours over twenty five years inside maximum security prisons and on death rows in seven states the history and philosophy professor exposes the perversity of justice inside prison ironically it s nobody s job to punish thus the worst criminals often live the best lives the death of punishment challenges the reader to refine deeply held beliefs on life and death as punishment that flare up with every news story of a heinous crime it argues that society must redesign life and death in prison to make the punishment more nearly fit the crime it closes with the final irony if we make prison the punishment it should be we may well abolish the very death penalty justice now requires
